Britain Puts Ban On Planes, Guns, Destined For Spain

Warning of Danger of European War if Britain Departs From Policy of Strict Neutrality, Issued Today By Sir Samuel Hoare

Associated Press
London, Aug. 19.—Great Britain, in a new move to emphasize the need of foreign non-intervention in the Spanish civil war, today imposed an embargo on the export of aircraft of any type—both civil and military—to the fighters. The ban also listed twenty types of war material prohibited for export to Spain.

The Board of Trade also revoked all licenses previously granted for the export to Spain of twenty types of weapons, ranging from cannon and flame-throwers to tanks and armored cars.

German Warships Stir Spain's Ire

Tension of the grave international situation created by the Spanish revolution was increased by presence of these German warships in Moroccan waters. Loyalists charged that the battleship Deutschland, top photo, steamed between Ceuta forts and an attacking government warship, forcing the latter to cease firing on the rebel defences. The Admiral Scheer is shown below. Berlin officials disclaimed any aid to the rebels, declaring the ships were on the scene only to protect German nationals.

London's Mayor In Ceremonial Parade

Sir Percy Vincent, Wearing Robes of Office, Cheered By Thousands in Vancouver Today

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 19.—Vancouver quit work this morning, lined the downtown streets six deep, leaned out of office windows and climbed up telephone posts as a ceremonial procession ushered Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, into the flag-draped city.

Sitting back in an open car chatting with Mayor McGeer, himself wearing the robes attached to his office, Sir Percy received the cheers of the populace. Proceeded and followed by scarlet-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a Scottish pipe band and a naval detachment, the official car rolled through the city.

Liviered attendants, garbed in morning coats and wearing gold-brided silk hats, sat side-by-side with blue-coated police who piloted the cars bearing the official party through the crowds.

Two branches of the association elected national officers before the opening session.

Douglas J. Thom, K.C., Regina, was re-elected president of the conference of commissioners on uniformity of legislation in Canada. Other officers elected by the commission were Hon. W. J. Major, K.C., Winnipeg, honorary president, and R. M. Fisher, K.C., Winnipeg, treasurer.

A. A. Moffat, K.C., of Winnipeg, was named secretary-treasurer of the governing bodies of the legal profession of Canada at their annual conference today.

Navy Plans In U.S.

Bids For New Destroyers and Submarines Marks Step in New Programme

New Battleships Great Fleet Already Under Construction in U.S. Yards

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 19.—Bids for the construction of six new destroyers and three submarines to be built in private shipyards were opened today by the United States Navy Department, marking the first step in launching a naval construction programme for the 1937 fiscal year.

Six other destroyers and three additional submarines are to be built in navy yards.

The bid opening started operations on the first phase of this year's quota of new construction provided for in a general plan to build the navy's fighting strength up to full treaty limits by 1942.

Soon after January 1, bids also are expected to be asked on two new battleships which Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary, has announced will be constructed if Great Britain carries out its announced plan to lay the keels of two additional men-o-war.

Contracts for the work will be let a short time after the bids are opened. Previous building contracts have averaged approximately $4,000,000 for a destroyer and $2,500,000 for a submarine.

CHARGE COHEN WITH MURDER

Coroner's Jury Finds Owner of Montreal Store Criminally Responsible

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 19.—Julius Cohen, clothing-store proprietor, was charged with murder today shortly after a coroner's jury held him criminally responsible for the death of three firemen in a fire and explosion which razed the block housing the shop occupied by the accused. Fifty firemen and spectators were injured, one perhaps fatally.

Cohen was arrested on arson charges arising from the store fire. Those killed, Francois Beaulieu, forty-three; Pierre Plouffe, forty-two; and Albert Guerin, thirty-nine, will be accorded a civic funeral Friday. The men were trapped in the debris of the burning building.

Montreal, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Roméo Vidal, manager of a clothing store, was arrested on a charge of arson late today, a few hours after his employer, Julius Cohen, was charged with murder in connection with the death of three firemen in a fire and explosion in the block housing his establishment.

Tense European Situation May Be Relieved if Non-intervention Pact is Reached; Rebels in Spain Jubilant Over Report Germany and Italy Would Recognize Fascist Government at Madrid

Associated Press
Italy, keeping her fleet of 1,500 planes in readiness, let it be known today a compromise Franco-Italian agreement on Spanish neutrality was, nevertheless, in sight.

Such a compromise, Fascist officials indicated, might mean Italy would give up her demand that Socialist France stop expressions of public opinion at home on behalf of the Socialist Spanish government.

Earlier, informed Italian sources said, Mussolini served notice the air fleet would go to the aid of the Spanish Fascist rebels if France fails to abstain from intervention and "moral" support for the Socialist government of Spain.

FOUR TRAPPED IN COAL MINE

Crews Attempt Rescue After Disaster Near Moberly, Missouri

Associated Press
Sexton Coal Mine, near Moberly, Mo., Aug. 19.—Four men were trapped in an air shaft last night in an attempt to save four men entombed in the main mine.

Fire which swept through the mine superstructure in mid-afternoon, trapping the men, almost overtook them. The shaft, however, was rescued from that end.

Joe Boardman and Sterling Colley, members of the rescue crew working in the abandoned air shaft, reported when they came up for rest that they believed they heard faint tapping sounds from the direction of the main shaft.

Boardman said at 9.30 yesterday evening about twenty feet of dirt remained to be removed between the air shaft and the main shaft.

The trapped men were said to be Demmer Sexton, a negro, and a fourth man known as "Mac."

Sexton and Stoner leased the mine recently and have been working for the past two weeks to get it ready to operate. Dameron was a mule driver. All three are from Huntsville, Mo.

The mine lies midway between Huntsville, five miles west on U.S. Highway 24, and Moberly, five miles east.

Mouth of the air shaft through which the rescue men were working is a quarter mile from the mine.

The horizontal part of the shaft, Boardman said, is in place only "half a yard wide."

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Associated Press
Seattle, Aug. 19.—An elderly woman received fatal injuries and an eighteen-year-old girl saved her father from a flaming automobile after a collision today.

A machine driven by Mrs. Larry Coluccio crashed into another operated by I. A. Taylor, driver who was repairing a tire alongside the road.

Mrs. Maudie Allison, fifty-eight, sitting in the back seat while waiting, died later from crash injuries. Her granddaughter, Frances Hester, fifteen, was injured.

Ether Coluccio, eighteen, pulled her father, a general contractor, from flames following the crash. Mrs. Allison and her granddaughter were removed from the Taylor machine before it also burst into flames.

It was King County's 104th traffic death for 1936.

COAL CONTROL IS SUGGESTED

Toronto Fuel Company President Asks Set Margin of Profit

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 19.—The Tory Coal Commission yesterday heard J. H. Milnes, president of the Toronto Fuel Company, suggest government regulation of the coal business and establishment of a margin of profit.

"It is almost necessary the way things are going," said Milnes, president of the Milnes Coal Company, during his testimony before the commission investigating the Canadian anthracite situation.

The commission, conducted by Dr. H. M. Tory of Ottawa, resumed its Toronto hearings yesterday after adjourning last Friday. Milnes was the principal witness.

The name of Senator Lorne Webster, Montreal, was mentioned at one point by Milnes who said: "We know that Senator Webster is in power in the Welsh coal business in Canada." He said the Montreal Senator had the machinery for unloading coal in Montreal.

CHECK PLANE FOR LONG HOP

Singer and Pilot Hope to Leave for London Saturday Morning

Brooklyn, N.Y., Aug. 19.—Two men of different ways of life—the skyways and Broadway—worked over an airplane at Floyd Bennett field today, preparing it for a round trip to London.

They are Dick Merrill, the quiet veteran of 250,000 miles of small flying, and Harry Richman, theatre and night club singer.

The plane is Richman's $100,000 (Vultee) monoplane. They flew from Albuquerque, N.M., yesterday, including a non-stop from Kansas City in five and a half hours—which even Merrill thought was "pretty good."

ESCAPED MEN SET ADRIFT

Fugitive Murderers From "Devil's Island" Departed From Trinidad

Associated Press
Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, Aug. 19.—Four convicted murderers who escaped from Devil's Island, the French penal colony off Guiana, were set adrift in the Caribbean Sea today by the Trinidad government after a fortnight's refuge on this island.

The fugitives were given a new small boat and food for last three weeks before being towed out to sea twelve miles by a police launch. They waved goodbye to police and began rowing diligently toward Venezuela.

They left behind in the hospital three companions, who are suffering from the effects of starvation and sunburn. They will be similarly deported when they have recovered.

URGES MONEY BE KEPT HOME

U.S. Presidential Candidate Says Foreign Trade Not Essential

Associated Press
Dewitt, Iowa, Aug. 19.—Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, United Party candidate for U.S. president, asserted today that the United States domestic market was "being sold to international horse traders" on the "mistaken idea that foreign trade is essential to progress."

Lemke, in an address prepared for delivery before a Farmers' Union picnic, said the United States had in the last year imported more than $2,000,000,000 worth of foreign goods, three-fourths of which were agricultural products and substitutes.

"The domestic market is being sold abroad," he said, "at the expense of the great mass of American people manufacturers and bankers."

"Because of economic discovery, mechanical inventions and technological development is gone forever, never to return—dead and buried."

The two-billion dollars paid for imports, he said, if spent at home and used as a revolving fund, "would have given the United States many billions in purchasing power," which in turn would have resulted in a larger demand for manufactured articles.

"It is time," the candidate asserted, "that we realize that money spent in the United States continues to be spent in the United States and that money spent in foreign markets will continue to be spent in foreign markets."

"We hope to start out for London Saturday morning," said Richman. "We have to get Department of Commerce permission first, of course, and decent weather report, but the ship's all set. Just this bit of checking over to do."

Merrill started as a world war flier, on English Channel patrol, then as a barnstormer. He rounded out his air record on eastern airlines. His last, spectacular feat was flying a rescue ship down to the tip of South America to aid in the search for Lincoln Ellsworth.

Premier-designate Expected at Quebec From Three Rivers to Survey Task Ahead of Him; Uncertainty at Legislative Offices

Canadian Press
Quebec, Aug. 19.—Uncertainty ruled government offices at Quebec's legislative buildings today in the wake of Monday's election which overturned Premier Godbout's Liberal government and brought Maurice Duplessis and his Union Nationale supporters 76 out of 90 seats.

Representation of the Liberal Party, which has ruled French-Canada for thirty-nine years, was reduced to a scant fourteen members. Premier Godbout and five of his cabinet met in the decisive swing of the electorate to Mr. Duplessis, former Conservative leader, and his alliance of Conservatives and insurgent Liberals.

The premier-designate will take over the government administration in the middle of next week, and in the meantime defeated Liberal department heads busied themselves with clearing up affairs of state to clear the decks for their successors.

Outgoing ministers and their departmental subordinates, however, were uncertain as to disposition of certain matters, believing they perhaps should be left for attention of the Union Nationale appointees.

Apprehension over security of their positions was felt by government functionaries working for departments and commissions Mr. Duplessis had promised to abolish.

During the campaign the Union Nationale chief declared he would do away with several government commissions such as the Quebec Forestry and Stream Commission, the Public Service Commission, and the Electricity Commission, and would consolidate several departments.

Anxiety of many government employees was tempered by recollection that any "revolving fund" government head has promised that any "revolving fund" employee need have no fear if he has not used his position for political advantage and is not a political hanger-on.

Premier-designate Duplessis was expected to come here shortly from his home for a preliminary survey of the government-building task ahead of him.

JAPAN TERMED TRADE MENACE

British Representative at Pacific Relations Conference Gives Warning

Associated Press
Yosemite, Cal., Aug. 19.—Japan's expanding commerce was a live topic at the Institute of Pacific Relations today, with the leader of the British group declaring Japan should be "warned she is in very great danger" if her expanding trade is from imperialistic designs.

A. V. Alexander, former first lord of the British admiralty, also said, "Japan appears to be rushing like a bull into the China shop of world markets."

"Other nations have allowed such a policy to go so far, and the menace has become too great, the other nations have combined. As a friend, Japan, already in a far too lonely position, put in that danger."

A Japanese economist, Prof. Teijuro Uyeda suggested yesterday evening the future use of "gentlemen's agreements" to control the country's increasing exports as a possible aid to peace in the Far East.

Kamekichi Takahashi, Japanese history scholar, ascribed Japan's recent industrial development as the outcome of many factors besides the cheap labor which enables her to underbid western nations in world markets.

Another delegate from Japan, Chokuro Kadono, told how the railways of Manchukuo, Japanese frontier state in northern China, had been planned to meet "strategic as well as economic needs."

Previous standings after redistribution of votes of F. Holmes, C.C.F., was Renouf 1,815, Baldwin 1,815.

Beck Denies Responsibility For Strike

Associated Press
Seattle, Aug. 19.—David D. Beck, Teamsters Joint Council president, today issued a statement through The Seattle Times denying Post-Intelligencer and other press statements he was responsible for the American Newspaper Guild strike which has closed that paper.

He urged that a public commission be formed to investigate the matter and make public findings as to his connection with the shutdown.

Beck suggested the commissioners be the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, "who recently spoke over the radio under the auspices of the Industrial Council of Seattle" (a businessmen's and employers' organization); Robert Stratton Macfarlane, Northern Pacific Railway attorney and former superior court judge; and Ewing D. Colvin, American Legion leader and former King County prosecutor.

The statement added that if The Post-Intelligencer declined to accept his suggestion, he will ask the departmental American Legion commander, Walter Talbot, Colfax, Wash., to select such a commission.

"I have had no part whatsoever in calling this strike and was in California the three weeks previous to the time it was called," Beck stated. "Any fair commission will quickly determine these facts and I welcome their presentation to the people of this city."

YOUNG HERO SEEKING JOB

Bryan Untiedt, Who Saved Schoolmates in Blizzard, Drought Sufferer

Associated Press
Denver, Aug. 19.—Strapping eighteen-year-old Bryan Untiedt, who five years ago was a national hero and a White House guest of President Hoover, blames the drought for unemployment which has brought him here in search of a job.

As a slight lad of thirteen, Untiedt aided in the rescue in March, 1931, of fifteen schoolmates in a blizzard-bound bus near Towner, in southeastern Colorado. He stripped off part of his clothing and gave it to younger children who were shivering.

The bus driver died while seeking help in the blinding snowstorm. When rescuers arrived, they found the frozen bodies of five children in the bus.

Untiedt invited Untiedt to the White House. Newspapers publicized him as a hero. He was named for the Carnegie Medal for bravery.

The drought has spoiled most of the crops on the Untiedt farm. Young Untiedt said his father doesn't need his help. Such crops as survive a blistering sun and lack of moisture can be harvested by the father alone.

Untiedt found work as a section hand in the Republican Valley this summer, but he said he hoped to find a job and stay here.

Betty Scudder of Pentiction was crushed to death when the automobile was dragged by the locomotive, and her mother, also in the car, was severely wounded. The father, George Scudder, was thrown clear of the car and was picked up shaken but unhurt.

Mrs. Scudder was taken to Mission hospital where her condition was described as serious.

Untiedt found work as a section hand in the Republican Valley this summer, but he said he hoped to find a job and stay here.

Betty Scudder of Pentiction was crushed to death when the automobile was dragged by the locomotive, and her mother, also in the car, was severely wounded. The father, George Scudder, was thrown clear of the car and was picked up shaken but unhurt.

Mrs. Scudder was taken to Mission hospital where her condition was described as serious.

Beck Denies Responsibility For Strike

Associated Press
Seattle, Aug. 19.—David D. Beck, Teamsters Joint Council president, today issued a statement through The Seattle Times denying Post-Intelligencer and other press statements he was responsible for the American Newspaper Guild strike which has closed that paper.

He urged that a public commission be formed to investigate the matter and make public findings as to his connection with the shutdown.

Beck suggested the commissioners be the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, "who recently spoke over the radio under the auspices of the Industrial Council of Seattle" (a businessmen's and employers' organization); Robert Stratton Macfarlane, Northern Pacific Railway attorney and former superior court judge; and Ewing D. Colvin, American Legion leader and former King County prosecutor.

The statement added that if The Post-Intelligencer declined to accept his suggestion, he will ask the departmental American Legion commander, Walter Talbot, Colfax, Wash., to select such a commission.

"I have had no part whatsoever in calling this strike and was in California the three weeks previous to the time it was called," Beck stated. "Any fair commission will quickly determine these facts and I welcome their presentation to the people of this city."

EDEN BACK IN LONDON

Period of Diplomatic Activity Predicted With Return of Foreign Secretary

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 19.—Foreign Secretary Eden returned to London yesterday afternoon and took charge of the Foreign Office.

A period of diplomatic activity was predicted.

The British Government has not been advised so far of the Spanish Government's intention to appeal to the League of Nations. It is assumed, however, that if an appeal is made it will likely be under Article XI of the covenant.

Article XI was one of the articles invoked by the Ethiopians.

Meanwhile Liberals and Labor united in a demand that Britain take a firm stand for democracy.

"The zero hour," declares the Liberal News-Chronicle as it tells of German and Italian help for the Spanish rebels while Berlin and Rome delay the neutrality pact, will come "some time or other."

The News-Chronicle adds that democracy must stand and say to Fascists: "Thus far and no further. If not democracy will go under internationally as it has gone under nationally in one country after another—and it will deserve to do so."

The paper suggests the French and British governments announce jointly an "appointed day" for receipt of favorable replies from Berlin and Rome and declare that failing such receipt they will thereafter consider themselves free to aid the Spanish Government.

EXPECT LEADERSHIP
The Daily Herald, Labor, says "Prime ministers need their rest but duty comes first. The British people expect more than they are getting from their Prime Minister in the present Spanish crisis. They expect leadership."

"No one," the Herald continues, "wishes without good cause to interrupt Mr. Baldwin as he drowns in the Welsh sunshine. But events interrupt. The noise of gunfire interrupts. And the noise of gunfire against free democratic government anywhere in the world should bring any British Prime Minister worthy of the name immediately into action."

"British leadership" has surely sunk to the lowest point. It has sunk out of sight. It has been sunk by a great English democrat who "made so many speeches about democracy."

Girding U.S. Navy in Crisis

The United States Navy is ready for any emergency in Spanish waters, Admiral William H. Standley, chief of operations, informed President Roosevelt at a White House conference which he attended in company with Secretary of the Navy Swanson (left). Revival of the European squadron was discussed, they admitted.

TWO KILLED IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—A runaway street car injured thirty passengers in a triple automobile collision hurt six, and two persons were killed in overnight traffic accidents in the Los Angeles area.

The street car jumped the track at a switch, cut down two telephone poles and careened 100 feet over a lawn.

Harvesting Is Well Advanced

Wheat Is of High Quality, But Oats and Barley Poor

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Harvesting is now well advanced over the prairie provinces, and threshing is proceeding rapidly, aided by continued warm dry weather, according to the crop report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Wheat is of exceptionally high quality while oats and barley are poor, outside a few favored areas.

In general, yields so far have borne out earlier expectations although in some cases they have been a little better than anticipated. Deliveries of wheat at country elevators have been heavy.

Precipitation over the southern areas was light with heavy showers in northern districts, particularly in Alberta. Temperatures continued above normal in all districts during the last week. Stem rust of wheat is fairly common and will probably cause some injury. Wheat-stem sawfly is doing considerable damage in southern Alberta, particularly in areas of good crop. Grasshoppers have migrated to the good-crop areas, doing some damage to wheat but more serious on coarse grains.

Injury to wheat has been lessened by the rapid ripening. Fairly severe hail damage occurred at scattered points in Alberta, but Saskatchewan escaped injury. Over the west as a whole, the soil is hard and dry and unless abundant rains come soon, fall cultivation will be impossible and second growth on stubble negligible in relieving the feed situation.

London Comment On Quebec Vote

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 19 (Canadian Press Cable).—The British press continued today to comment on Monday's election in Quebec which resulted in victory for Maurice Duplessis's Union Nationale.

"Notwithstanding a few scare headlines in the French-Canadian press," declares The Morning Post, Conservative, "there is no serious movement in Quebec today as there was at the time of the South African war for the establishment of a French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence."

"Quebec is too well off in the Canadian Confederation for that. The British North America Act has preserved her rights, which she could hardly have preserved if left to her own devices between powerful neighbors."

"She will continue to resist any extension of the Dominion's powers over the provinces—a subject which will inevitably prove of increasing interest as the Dominion becomes economically more unified. But her loyalty to the empire is unlikely to be shaken."

The Times comments that Mr. Duplessis may be trusted to "pour a considerable amount of water in the heady wine served up by a section of his followers."

Demonstration For Mooney

Friends Give Encouragement to Him and Billings at Habeas Corpus Hearing

Associated Press
San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Formal conclusion of the Thomas Mooney habeas corpus hearing yesterday prompted an orderly demonstration in which spectators shook hands with Mooney and Warren K. Billings.

Mooney and Billings were sentenced to life prison terms after their conviction of the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in which ten persons were killed. Billings attended the hearing as an observer.

The hearing has been in progress for more than a year and faithful spectators who seldom missed a session rushed to Mooney and Billings and tendered expressions of encouragement.

Billings was expected to be returned to Prison in a few days, but Mooney will remain in jail here until August 31, at least. On that date his attorney will meet with Referee A. E. Shaw to discuss any action which may be necessitated by a Supreme Court decision expected by that time on a motion to be presented today by George Davis of the Mooney counsel.

Davis will present a written petition asking the Supreme Court to vacate its order instructing Shaw to present his findings of fact in the case to the court. Davis contends it is the duty of the court itself to read the record and make its own findings, and is giving Shaw this authority, making him the final arbiter.

Frank Walsh of New York and John Finerty, Mooney's eastern counsel, planned to leave today but will return here for final argument before the Supreme Court.

"Insulting" Says Seattle Mayor of P.-I.'s Reply to His Suggestion

Associated Press
Seattle, Aug. 19.—The Post-Intelligencer yesterday evening rejected Mayor John F. Dore's suggestion that differences between the strike-closed newspaper and the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild be settled by conferences or arbitration.

Richard Sells, president of the Seattle chapter which called a newsroom walkout last Thursday in protest against the discharge of two guild members, accepted the mayor's proposal earlier in the day.

W. Vaughn Tanner, resident publisher of the Hearst-owned Post-Intelligencer, wrote the following letter to Dore:

"I am in receipt of your letter of August 18 proposing a conference looking toward the settlement of the so-called strike on The Post-Intelligencer."

"The question of the legality of the two discharges which were the pretext for the so-called strike has been taken to the National Labor Relations Board by the employees concerned."

"The only other question involved is that of the maintenance of law and order and I do not see anything to discuss about that."

"We were forced to suspend publication (all Friday morning and editions thereafter) because of violence. The mayor is the head of the government. It is his duty to maintain law and order. It would seem to me that your first efforts could well be directed toward that end."

After receiving Tanner's letter, Mayor Dore said: "Tanner's letter was simply insulting. I'm washing my hands of the business. I don't care now if the P-I never publishes and I think it would be a good thing for the town if it didn't."

Dore added that if there were "any attempts to run in gunmen-strike-breakers, they'll be thrown in jail, just as quick as we'll throw in any picket or anybody else running around with guns. If it's necessary, we'll search everybody."

More Equitable Social Order

Duty of Laymen to Ease Burdens of Masses, Says Archbishop McGuigan

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The duty of Catholic laymen is to work to lift burdens that oppress the toiling masses and aid in bringing about a more equitable social order, Archbishop McGuigan of the Roman Catholic diocese of Toronto told members of the Knights of Columbus at a pontifical mass yesterday.

The mass marked the formal opening of the fifty-fourth annual Knights of Columbus convention. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Lieut.-Governor Bruce of Ontario and others.

Archbishop McGuigan declared there was no doubt that enemies of Christ "assail us in serious ranks and with well-thought-out tactics" as he referred to events taking place in Mexico and Spain and "the rising tide of Communism all over the world."

Peoples of the United States and Canada are a tower of strength against "the crushing tide of radicalism, pagan philosophy and atheism that beset the world," Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich., told the convention.

"They have refused to adopt false or fantastical experiments in government or become followers of crack-brained proponents of unsound principles. They have kept their feet on the ground and their minds attuned to truth."

FALLING ROCK KILLS MINER

George W. Mortimer Victim of Mishap in Protection Mine

Nanaimo, B.C., Aug. 19.—George William Mortimer, fifty-eight-year-old miner, died here yesterday from injuries suffered when struck by falling rock in number one shaft of Protection Mine. He died without regaining consciousness.

Mortimer was born at Stowland, Durham, England, and had lived in Nanaimo for the last twenty-five years, working in the mines here.

He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. Eva Potts, both of Nanaimo.

Davis will present a written petition asking the Supreme Court to vacate its order instructing Shaw to present his findings of fact in the case to the court. Leeming Advocates New Municipal Body

Dissolution of Canadian Municipalities Union and Forming of Federation Proposed By Victoria's Mayor at Vancouver

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 19.—Mayor David Leeming of Victoria said yesterday evening he would move dissolution of the Union of Canadian Municipalities and in its place formation of a federation of delegates from respective municipal unions throughout Canada.

Disappointment at the sparse attendance at the union's convention which opened here today prompted the Victoria mayor's statement. Only twenty-five delegates were present when the convention was called to order, Mayor Leeming said, and even with the dozen or so eastern and prairie delegates en route here and delayed by rail tie-ups east of here, the meeting would be far from representative of Dominion municipalities.

Under Mayor Leeming's proposal he said the Canadian mayors' conference would cease to function, its duties being taken over by the federation.

He suggested the new organization, if formed, meet annually at a central city, preferably Winnipeg, which would obviate delegates from making a trans-Canada trip to lay their problems before the organization.

URGES CONSIDERATION
Mayor Andrew Davison of Calgary asked delegates to carefully consider the situation before making any decision that would dissolve the present municipal organization.

The Vancouver Island mayor also stated that although the question of meeting the union and the two-year-old Canadian mayors' conference is scheduled for consideration only, a handful of mayors were sufficiently interested to attend.

As an example of the need for a vigorous organization to take concerted action on municipal problems, Mayor Leeming cited the plight of Victoria. Increasing taxation there, he said, had forced 60 per cent of the vacant property into the city's hands.

APPROACHING COMMUNISM
"We are approaching communism today," Mayor Leeming continued, "by the manner in which we are forcing private property into the hands of municipalities through the capital levy of taxation. Do you realize that one vacant lot in every eleven has fallen to the city of Victoria in the past four years?"

Under the Victoria mayor's plan for a federation to replace the union each provincial union of municipalities would name delegates to the federation.

Instead of cities and municipalities presenting their views individually, as at present under the new setup, each municipality which wished to bring a matter before the Dominion federation would first present it to the provincial municipalities union. When the provincial union had passed on it, it would be sent to the Canadian body as the considered opinion of the provincial organization involved.

Vincent to Get Ottawa Reception

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 19.—An official reception to Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, on his return journey will be held on Parliament Hill on the morning of September 2, it was announced here by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Ottawa's mayor and civic officials will be asked to join in the ceremony and if the weather is suitable the reception will be out of doors.

Mr. Mackenzie King will take the Lord Mayor on a tour of the city and its environs and will entertain him at a luncheon to which will be invited members of the Privy Council, civic officials, and other distinguished citizens.

FIANNA FAIL WINS WEXFORD

De Valera Party Gains Seat in Irish By-election

Canadian Press

Wexford, Irish Free State, Aug. 19.—President de Valera's Fianna Fail party won another seat yesterday from the Opposition as M. D. Allen was elected to the Dail from this constituency by a majority of 6,529. The by-election was necessitated by the death of Sir Osmond Omond, United Ireland party.

This was the second by-election in three days to result in the gain of a seat for the government. On Sunday the Fianna Fail candidate was elected for Galway, the largest constituency in the Free State, by a large majority.

The voting yesterday was as follows: Allen, 23,263; Captain John Esmond, United Ireland party, 16,734; Murphy, Labor, 4,276; Hayes, Left Republican, 1,331.

In a statement to the press, De Valera thanked the electors of Galway and Wexford for "this renewed expression of trust and confidence."

The government could now face the work of the coming year with stout hearts, he said, "knowing that in their efforts to surmount the obstacles in their path they had the unwavering support of the great majority of the people."

The Parish Pump

AS OF OLD, THE VANCOUVER
Daily Province does not seem to know what it wants when it comes to an election, be it a by-election, a provincial general election, or a federal general election.

The other day it had the provincial by-election in the Burrard riding at the back of its editorial mind. It is permitted to quote from our mainland contemporary's leading article on this subject. It follows in part:

"If advance notices are to be relied upon we shall be reminded of services the Pattullo government has rendered on behalf of the Golden Jubilee. We shall be told of the cash donations and perhaps of other things—of government favors already granted to the city of Vancouver and of favors still to come. If Mr. Pattullo does not say these things it is more than likely that somebody else will say them for him.

"What should be the answer of Vancouver to such a bid for Burrard's vote? It should be simply this: that Vancouver asked for nothing and wished for nothing inconsistent with a government's proper obligations to the capital city of British Columbia."

Residents of Victoria and Vancouver Island in general will naturally want to know when "Burrard's votes" have been tied up to "proper obligations to the capital city of British Columbia."

After all, even though the Lord Mayor of London is a visitor to Canada's third largest city, Victoria—as Sir Percy Vincent knows full well—is the capital city of British Columbia.

The Vancouver Province is old enough, or it should be, to get out of the parochial rut.

Many Will Miss Them

TWO NATIVE SONS OF BRITISH
Columbia died yesterday. One was Dr. E. H. Griffiths and the other was Mr. William Kinsman.

Dr. Griffiths was a native son of Victoria, a man of sterling qualities. He was a dental surgeon of wide experience. In recent weeks he had not been well. Ten years short of the Psalmist's allotted span, he crossed over to the Great Beyond.

Mr. Kinsman was born in New Westminster; but most of his life was spent in Victoria. His service in the public life of this community is well known. He pleaded guilty to the fact that he was a Liberal—and gave much to the cause of democracy.

These two men, "Harry" Griffiths, "Billy" Kinsman, will be sorely missed in this community. Both of them always played the game. Thousands of Victorians will miss two jovial souls and extend their sincere condolences to those of their families who have been left to bear up under their sorrow.

Welcome!

THE LORD MAYOR OF LONDON
is in Vancouver. His visit marks the first occasion on which the senior alderman of the City of London—a little spot of the great metropolis which is as "dead as a door nail" after the evening shadows have fallen—has visited British Columbia.

Sir Percy Vincent—he is known as such—may be assured that his trip to this province is both interesting and important because it puts another seal on British Columbia's association with the heart of the empire. His Lordship has onerous duties to perform. He is "on call" night and day. But those men who serve the City of London are men of sterling worth.

Her Chief Magistrate who is British Columbia's guest for an all-too-brief-a-visit is welcome. May he and his entourage have a pleasant time.

Social Credit in 1930

THE POLICY OF PREMIER ABER-
hart to pay $25 a month to every adult in Alberta, a sum amounting to $120,000,000 annually on the credit of the province, naturally turns attention to the history of the past. The Halifax Chronicle reviews the experience of France, and all the facts recorded will be of value to those who are sincerely interested in the Alberta experiment.

In the days of the French Revolution the treasury was in the direst financial straits. Unable to raise loans, taxation having ceased to be productive, and threatened with bankruptcy, the scheme was hit upon of issuing mortgage bonds—the "assignats"—on the church property which had been confiscated by the Revolution. The "assignats" were to provide a substitute for metallic currency.

At first they were to bear interest at 5 per cent; they were to circulate as money, and could be used to buy the State lands; when the "assignats" came in, in return for lands, they were to be retired.

The scheme was workable enough had their amount been limited to a proportion of the value of the lands. Mirabeau said: "They represent real property, the most secure of all possessions," adding that there was no fear of an over-issue; "this paper can never become redundant."

First, 400,000,000 francs were issued. Later, the interest rate was reduced to 3 per cent. Next, as in the proposed Alberta scheme, they were issued without interest. It was decreed they must be accepted as legal tender.

Then 800,000,000 francs more were issued, and as time went on the printing presses worked overtime and a total of 3,750,000,000 francs of this money were circulated in the republic. Their value sank to twenty for the 100 francs. Then laws were passed against exchanging coin for "assignats" on a greater than a fifty-fifty basis, a second offence being punishable with the death penalty. This was later repealed, but the "assignats" still sank in value.

Next as proposed in Alberta, prices were regulated, every farmer had to declare the amount of corn he had, and a maximum price was fixed; but the issue of still more credit notes went on. Beginning in 1790, in four years the total amount rose to 8,000,000,000 francs, of which only 2,464,000,000 had returned to the treasury and been destroyed. Trade was paralyzed, attempts to increase the value of the "assignats" failed, the people refused to exchange commodities for money of constantly diminishing purchasing power, while the printing presses continued pouring out the credit notes, until in 1796 they had reached the appalling total of 45,500,000,000 francs, and a man could walk down the streets of Paris, his pockets bulging with money, unable to buy even a toothpick with it. The end of the "assignat" had come.

The French government then converted them into land-warrants, which were to constitute a mortgage on all the lands of the republic, but on the day of their first issue they were worth only 18 cents to the dollar.

These lived for six months, and were finally redeemed by paying 1 cent for every seventy in coin.

Such is in brief outline the story of this French experiment of a hundred and fifty years ago. But what it does not tell is the tale of bankruptcy right and left, the terror and fear and confusion and turmoil into which the whole country was thrown, and the inevitable poverty, starvation and suffering which lighted upon every fireside, a period which France to this day recalls with a shudder. Now Alberta proposes to give her people $120,000,000 a year on the credit of the province, a sum which in ten years would amount to $1,200,000,000.

The Tye Are Here

THINGS ARE HAPPENING UP
Campbell River way. Mr. Hal Erickson is reported as saying that the tye are here and that they can be caught if sportsmen will go out at the right time and with the right tackle and lure. The Comox Argus is our authority for the statement that Mr. Erickson knows his tye and in proof tells how the other day he went out and night away landed a thirty-six-pounder.

It is recorded that a Chinese working for Mr. Thomas Graham then went out on Comox Harbor and landed one that scaled just more than fifty pounds. At Little River, Dr. Fred Gerlach, a Philadelphia surgeon, hooked and landed a forty-five-pounder. At Campbell River, buttons were awarded to Robbins of California for a 55.75-pounder. Frost, of Houston, for a fifty-pounder and to Redden, of West Vancouver, for a thirty-seven-pounder.

With such evidence there can be no doubt that the tye are here, and another season of thrilling sports fishing under way. The fighting fish salmon of our island waters is one of our best advertisers. Visitors return to their homes in all parts of the continent to boast of their prowess with the line and troll, whetting the desire of their auditors to be here at this season of the year, no matter how far it is necessary for them to travel. Those who gain a coveted button cherish it as an amulet; those who fail this year go away with a determination to return and win.

Notes

Another good intelligence test is a Saanich or Esquimalt slot machine.

Man's principles are few. The things he calls principles are usually appetites and grievances.

Some men are so learned and wise they seem right about everything except when they disagree with us.

We can tell when the fight for some popular cause for the people is won. Their leader gets a nice, soft job.

"Evidently," said The Prince Rupert Daily News the other day, "Vancouver people, politicians and newspapers seem to imagine that the whole of British Columbia is created solely to fill the coffers of Vancouver's plutocrats." We are beginning to think that the northern paper is not so far wrong, now that The Daily Province calmly appropriates for Vancouver the capital of British Columbia.

Incomes of twenty-seven eastern roads, under the reduced 2-cent-a-mile rate, have advanced 6 per cent over those of a year ago. Individually, some roads did even better: the New York Central showed an 11.2 per cent gain, and the Baltimore and Ohio a 16.7 per cent rise over June, 1935. It is not logical, of course, to attribute these increases entirely to lower rates. Business generally is improving. By the same token, it is fair to credit the new fares with much of this business. The figures prove that rail services can be popular and profitable against the new forms of competition if the rates are right.

"Equal pay with men for equal work" is a feminine-propelled slogan winging its way around the world these days. In Paris the International Federation of Business Women has just endorsed the principle. "We don't want to be known as women chemists, women artists, and women teachers," said one speaker at the Paris convocation. "We are chemists, artists, and teachers, and we have a right to the salaries appropriate to those professions." Women's participation in business and government has long since settled any question of the equality of the sexes.

Loose Ends

The Anthony Eden is here and very gaily—
In Greece they treated their philosophers differently—the portrait of an old-fashioned girl is drawn—and a visitor
—is about to depart.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IT IS HERE

TODAY I am able to present an exclusive scoop which the society editors have completely missed. The news, girls, is that the Anthony Eden ensemble has come to town, and maybe that isn't something! Yes, indeed, I saw it stroll out of the Empress Hotel yesterday and get into a taxi, and four taxi drivers, two maiden school teachers from Kansas, a member of the provincial government and I, all stood gaping at the sheer wonder of it, as one would gape at seeing the Rocky Mountains for the first time.

The Anthony Eden ensemble, as you know, has swept Europe, altered the styles of England and thrilled the League of Nations practically into insensibility. It consists, of course, of a very black and very high felt hat, a black coat, cut wide at the top and narrow at the waist, and a pair of grey, striped pants tapering down to almost nothing at the ankles.

Alas, you have to be an Anthony Eden to wear it: a beautiful blonde demi-god. This fellow who was wearing it at the Empress Hotel wasn't beautiful and wasn't a demi-god so far as I could tell; and one of the maiden school teachers from Kansas said to the other: "Well, if that's what Eden wears, it's no wonder the League of Nations is busted and they're going to have another world war over there." But what sent a wet chill down my spine was the thought that our own statesmen here might start to imitate his gaudy attire. They just aren't built for it, you know. I mean, if you want to pass an amusing half hour, just use your imagination and picture them in Anthony Edens. The mind reels at the thought of it.

SOCRATES

IN ANCIENT GREECE, where civilization reached its highest point but only lasted for a brief moment in history, plunging down then to its present level—in ancient Greece, on the streets of Athens an ugly, gaudy old boy used to button-hole people, or grab hold of their togas, or whatever they were in those days, and stick his fingers into their ribs in a most annoying fashion and ask them what they thought about Life. And when they tried to answer he would ask them some more questions until they were hopelessly confused. Then the old boy—stonemason by trade, whose wife used to kick him out of the house and throw the garbage after him—would tell the poor pedestrian all about Life.

This objectionable street corner character was called Socrates. Many competent observers think that he was the greatest mind the world has ever seen.

On Broad Street this week a man stood talking to people. He kept talking and talking, but no one listened. From the office across the way where I happened to be, we couldn't hear what he said, but I have no doubt he was talking about the economic system. That is all people talk about on the street corners these days. Anyway, he stood there, shouting valiantly, and a few people looked at him curiously and undoubtedly thought he was mad, and a young policeman came along after a while and said he was talking on the street still talking to everyone he passed. But nobody would stop to listen.

That is the way we treat our philosophers these days. If Socrates were to reappear, undoubtedly he would land in jail before the day was out. That is the difference between our civilization and the civilization of the Greeks. I hope you like it.

OLD-FASHIONED

A MAN named M. J. Phillips has drawn a portrait of an old-fashioned woman for The New York Sun. He says an old-fashioned woman is one who thinks that four cocktails before dinner are plenty; who feels that pyjamas are not quite the proper thing to wear to the grocery store; who is a little embarrassed on a public beach; who doesn't like to tell one whisky from another; who is more comfortable on the street wearing stockings; who has the notion that finger nails shouldn't look like gory talons; who isn't depressed to discover that she has eyebrows; who can't outswear a taxi driver; who doesn't carry a revolver in her handbag; who knows how to bake a cake without corresponding with a government bureau on home economics; who feels a little guilty when she arrives at the theatre in the middle of the show and makes everybody stand up to let her pass; who wakes up with a start when she dreams of being carried down a ladder in a chemise and scanties; who won't sign testimonials to bonded whiskies; feather beds or cures for alcoholism; who doesn't wear a hat that makes her look ridiculous even if it is stylish; who was never Miss America; who has no scrapbook full of pictures showing her about to jump off diving boards in the garb of a bubble dancer.

This seems to be a pretty complete portrait of the old-fashioned woman, God bless her. Only one or two of her qualities have been omitted. The old-fashioned woman thinks her husband knows something about public affairs and business. She even thinks he may be as good a man as Clark Gable. She doesn't know the meaning of the gold standard and has a quaint idea that it is sound to live within your income. She can't talk all evening about Socialism, and the only Marx she knows are the Four Brothers.

Unfortunately, this is a posthumous portrait. The old-fashioned woman has become extinct. The Emancipated woman has taken her place. Perhaps some day men may be emancipated, too, but not likely. Women never free their slaves.

NEAR THE END

A THIS SEASON a sudden increase may be noted in the tempo of our lake. The summer is going out in a blaze of glory, like the full bloom on the rose. People swim more often, knowing that the time is short. There are more couples spooning in the canoes, because the open-air spooning season is closing in. The little boy next door fishes practically all day, in a feverish effort to catch all the fish in the lake before he has to go back to town. The grown-ups lie in the sun half nude by the hour to catch every possible ray of sunshine and complete their tan before they have to put on clothes again.

And you can see, if you are close to nature, that the sun is going down just before 7 o'clock now, where it used to linger until after 8 o'clock; and in the mornings at 6 o'clock when I plunge boldly into the water the mists on the lake are heavier, the rays of sunlight weaker, the water distinctly chillier and my morale definitely lower. Yes, this thing is getting serious now and I feel I must warn you. Summer is definitely in its old age and you had better treat it gently.

They who provide much wealth for their children, but neglect to improve them in virtue, do like those who feed their horses high, but never train them to be useful.—Socrates.

Deceivers are the most dangerous members of society. They trifle with the best affections of our nature, and violate the most sacred obligations.—Cicero.

More sorrow, which weeps and sits still, is not repentance. Repentance is sorrow converted into action: into a movement toward a new and better life.—M. B. Vincent.

Letters to The Editor

"FEAR" IT IS

To the Editor:—You were so good as to find space for letters from myself and also find a name for each one, "Wickedness in Ethiopia" and my last, "A History Lesson." These contained certain opinions of up-to-date writers, and facts from history. So, in this, I will confine myself to comments on present conditions. Events move so fast this year that there seems to be much confusion as to who is who, which is which, and what is what.

I am venturing to sum it all up in the one word "Fear." There is a subject for debate by the Young Citizens' Forum and others during the coming fall and winter evenings. PIONEER.

STILL LIKES CANADA

To the Editor:—Referring to "The Price of Peace" in Friday's issue, it seems equally strange that some people will cling to a system, that has been in effect for ages and ages, and proved useless even in modern times. Almost any school child knows the real cause of the Boer War, and everyone the cause of the World War.

It must be a grand and glorious feeling to know the country you live in cannot pay the interest on a war debt, borrowed from some nation that you would start fortifying your boundaries against in peace times. I am mindful of the fact, also, that three warships (not panic-stricken) allowed themselves to be torpedoed in broad daylight in war time, with a huge loss of life.

I still like my Canada, Mr. Editor. PEACE-ARCH.
Vancouver Street.

TWO PLANKS

To the Editor:—In reply to "Missouri's" request for an explanation by means of "the fundamental differences" between the financial planks of the 1933 and 1936 C.C.F. platforms, I would refer him to Mr. Connell's reply on that point to the executive, which reply will not doubt be in the hands of the press during the course of the present week.

I, in fact, sent a written statement of such "fundamental difference" to the secretary of the Victoria C.C.F. executive a fortnight ago, when Mr. Don Smith was here, and there is therefore no excuse for the professed ignorance of the latter in the letter he recently issued to the press on behalf of Dr. Telford.

The fact that men like Connell, Skinner, LePauve, Arnold Webster, Pritchard, MacInnis, McNeill, Price and Swales have all, like myself, publicly condemned this 1936 plank, although we all endorsed the 1933 plank, is ample proof that they, in fact, differ as chalk from cheese. I also understand that Professor Buchanan, economic expert of U.B.C., was consulted by Telford and his friends, and stated that the 1936 plank was a rant nonsense.

RUSH TO BIG CITY

From a New York Correspondent
Reduced train and bus fares have stimulated travel to the metropolis, with the consequent increase in the number of those who cannot make the grade for one reason or another. Last year the New York Travelers' Aid Society assisted 42,350 persons, and this mark probably will be exceeded this year.

The society arranges transportation, telegraphs parents and advises immigrants. Now it is campaigning for a psychiatrist on the ground that many who run away from home need treatment.

Synthetic Rubbers

OUTSIDE of the technical industries concerned most people may yet feel that "synthetic rubber," or rubber-like materials, is still a laboratory curiosity and still in the science supplement stage of the newspapers. How many know, for example, that six products now on the market are rivals of rubber? Some are true synthetics, built in the laboratory, while others are derived from natural rubber but have special and desirable properties.

Pioneer of the rubber-like substances is Thiokol, which is available in sheets, as a liquid, or as a powder for molding. Like rubber it can be vulcanized but has the additional valuable property of being impervious to gasoline and does not swell and quickly disintegrate.

Koroisel is the rubber-like plastic with properties that make it desirable where natural rubber fails. It can be obtained in hardness that runs all the way from a soft jelly to hard rubber. You can mold it, make sheets out of it or extrude it from openings. Remarkable resistance to light, water, air and certain corrosive chemicals and oils are its merits. Chief use is in the impregnation or coating of fabrics, paper and metals.

AXP is another rubber-like synthetic organic compound which makes hard rubber flexible and aids in overcoming the deterioration due to ozone.

DuPrene is one of the newest and most widely known synthetic products having rubber-like properties, which has greater resistance to oil, grease, gasoline and air, and heat than natural rubber. Tires have already been built with it and performers satisfactorily. Leather fabrics, asbestos and cork have already been coated with it for special service.

Plioflon is a rubber derivative made from pale crepe rubber. It resists the attack of water, all alkalis and most acids. It has excellent electrical insulation properties. This plastic has wide usefulness in the field of sound production. When used as a sounding board it approaches violin wood in producing pleasing tones.

Sixth of the rubber-like materials is Torneiste, a rubber derivative, whose present function is primarily in the coating of metals. It shows resistance to acids, alkalis, smoke and fumes and can be applied with a brush or as a spray.

In the commercial sense there is little reason why the synthetic rubber-like plastics should exactly duplicate the natural products. While the search for synthetic rubber originally had that goal, the present products have excelled rubber in many ways and lack only the price angle to be highly competitive on a wide scale.

VINY SPEAKS

Oh, Band of Pilgrims coming now to me,
Murmuring of dead that long have quiet lain,
Breathing in broken prayer a cherished name
Of son or husband, who from o'er the sea,
Came to my arms in their young manhood's strength,
Clear-eyed, high-purposed, Prize of Right their goal:
Fearless they walked with Death, and when at length
Clay called to clay strong-voiced arms, the deathless soul
Returned to God . . . in mother-arms, close-cradled, to my breast,
The forms you loved I gathered, here they lie,
Mortal, remains in dreamless, endless rest.
But from God's Throne above the sheltering sky,
Sons, husbands, fathers, gaze on you and strive
To draw your sorrowing hearts and minds on high,
Bidding you joy not grieve in sacrifice,
The Spirit knows not Death . . . They did not die.

YOUR CHANCES

From World Digest

If 5,500,000 tickets costing $2.50 each are sold in the Irish sweepstakes, what is the chance of winning one of the three grand prizes in each of the fourteen groups? The answer is one in about 130,000. What is the chance of holding a straight flush in poker? One in 62,000. Of holding four of a kind? One in 4,000. A full house? One in 600.

ABOUT MENTAL CASES

To the Editor:—There is no one more glad than the writer to see this subject taken up by a learned psychiatrist and also a member of an old and respected family in Victoria. When we think of the past of these unfortunate people, we feel more than glad that progress has gone as far as this. All real progress is slow.
Up to fourteen years ago in this fair city many of these people were stily caught, even if they were suffering from only a slight nervous breakdown, and as stily signed up as a public menace. Then they were pitched into the criminal jail to await a convenient time for sending across to Esquimalt. This was all the preventive work there was in Victoria fourteen years ago. Many times a psychopathic observation ward was pleaded for, for just nerve cases.
At last there was provided something of the kind at our provincial hospital. In time all will realize that a mental illness is no more of a disgrace than a bodily illness, perhaps a little more intricate, and often mixed up with a bodily handicap as well—often of you remove one you cure the other. This should make it more interesting to the real nurse who has her work at heart. What all people need is education on this subject.
MARGARET BUSBY.

BLAKEBURN RELIEF FUND

To the editor:—May I be permitted to extend to the public an abbreviated account of our stewardship, together with the financial statement, and the heartfelt thanks of all concerned to each and every one who rendered such valuable assistance during the period of the mine explosion at Blakeburn, August 13, 1930.
Upon being elected to office, we were faced with a situation which called for much consideration and thought. There was the splendid sum of $33,558 subscribed; afterward $1,700 of interest earned to be added.
Our first consideration was immediate relief; second, re-establishment in new avenues of life of all those who had been so bereaved; third to procure the greatest amount of as-istance for all those so concerned from the money subscribed and earned.

After having passed through the first two stages, it was decided that for the first year each widow would receive $10 per month; each orphan child $5 per month, and a dependent father or mother would receive the same allowance as a widow.

This system seemed to work out so satisfactorily that it was finally decided to adopt it as a permanent policy for the duration of the fund.

Each widow or orphan was allowed the same amount; there was no deviation from this rule for anyone. It should be borne in mind that these dependents were also provided for by the Workmen's Compensation Board; but that the child of three received the same allowance as the child of thirteen, and as the years wore on, the burden became heavier, so that the longer our support could be paid, the greater the assistance; hence our policy of monthly payment.

Our first resolution, unanimously adopted, specified that every cent contributed would be used solely for the purpose for which it was intended. How well this was carried out the financial statement will bear out in its entirety. Only about ½ cent on the dollar contributed has been used for collection and administrative purposes; all services have been rendered gratuitously, and on October last the final cheques were issued and the fund closed out.

I would like to thank the press for the valuable services rendered, and the publicity given during the life of this movement; the members of the Princeton Board of Trade; the several merchants of Princeton; and the clergy, who were the inaugurators of this movement; and to convey an expression of gratitude to Mr. E. Lucas of the Royal Bank staff, who has carried out the duty of secretary, and to Mr. W. McKinnon of the Coal-mint Collieries, who has acted as treasurer. Upon the shoulders of these two gentlemen have fallen the chief duties of administration, and they have at all times given their time and assistance freely. The many letters of thanks we received from the various people concerned has been ample payment for any service we may have been able to render them.

JOHN O'VINGTON, President
Blakeburn, B.C.

WANTS NEW C.C.F. CONVENTION

To the Editor:—The attached letter has this day been forwarded to the provincial executive of the C.C.F.-B.C. section:
Lake Hill P.O., Victoria,
August 16, 1936.
Provincial Executive, C.C.F.
B.C. Section, Vancouver:
Dear Sir:—Desperate diseases may require drastic remedies.
It is obvious to most people that the constitution of Canada must be made to conform to the needs of the people of Canada—so we must also recognize that the constitution of the

C.C.F. must be interpreted in a broad enough manner to meet the present requirements of the whole party.

A split such as is now in evidence will, if it does not prove fatal, be sure to retard our progress for a long, long time. Where there is one individual who seems to take a delight in a family scrap there are at least a hundred who view the present state of affairs with unutterable sorrow, knowing full well that there are good men and women, brave men and women, both sides of the controversy who would welcome any honest effort to keep the party intact. They feel, as I feel, that it behooves us to be very careful, lest in attempting to remove what we may consider as "encumbrances" we throw out some corner stone on which has already been built a strong structure of public confidence.

For this reason, and knowing that both parties in the present dispute have the same object in view—"the establishment of a co-operative commonwealth in Canada"—I am going to suggest that the Provincial Executive immediately send out a call for a new convention, which will have the power to either reaffirm or revise the platform adopted at the last convention.

It seems to me that if the executive has not machinery to enable them to heal the present breach, we are in about as dangerous a position as an army staff without the Red Cross.

The movement has grown so important in the eyes of thousands who are looking for relief from intolerable conditions that a split in our ranks is nothing short of a calamity; but while it has grown in size it must not become too narrow to admit of all shades of opinion provided the holders are working toward the same end.

If we cannot have unanimity on the best plan of attack on the common enemy let us at least refrain from using our ammunition in fighting one another.

If a move is to be made along the suggested line, I cannot help but feel that prompt action necessary.

W. E. PEIRCE.

CARS TOO NOISY
To the Editor:—The oldest man in Victoria was standing on the street corner the other day, so I asked him how old the street cars running out to Beacon Hill Park were. After looking me over and evidently deciding that I was as green as I sounded, he removed his pipe, spat across onto the opposite sidewalk, and vouchsafed the following:

"Well, young fellow, when my great-grandfather first came to live in these parts, they used to tell about 'Chief Aged Face' (were a Indian, 'e were) 'n' 'is tribe dated back to the time when they used to build these ere street cars, only they didn't 'ave no wheels, they didn't, they used to run 'em on skids, 'n' they were powered by dinosaurs. Well, by'n'by they got the ideeo' putting wheels under 'em, and usin' 'osses for power. Well, 'twasn't long after that—bout cuppie undred years or so—that this 'ere electric affair was invented, n' 'B.C. Electric decided to go into business.

"Well, they sends a feller down 't buy all these cars up, 'n' after they got 'em ter Victoria, they puts a pole on top of 'em, w' a colthesline pulley on't end, 'n'—well there you are.

"Just 'ow old they be is somewhat of a contentious question, but they're still goin' strong, you can 'ear 'em."

This is what the oldest man in Victoria told me. Just how authentic the story is, I cannot say, but there is no denying the last remark. "You can 'ear 'em."

Lima Beans Tempting

Lima beans—delicately flavored and tempting—are to be had in abundance these days.

LIMAS ARE HEARTY FARE

Lima beans are heartier food than green beans and add calories to the menu, depending on the manner in which they are served.

One-fourth cup of limas (four level tablespoons), served lightly seasoned with butter, furnish 100 calories of protein, fat and carbohydrates, while it takes one whole cup, or four times the amount, of string beans to furnish equal food value.

Remember, though, that the vitamin content of green beans is higher. Green beans are classed with the leafy vegetables as a "protective food."

You will probably find several varieties of lima beans in the market—"butter beans," some hucksters call them. There are tiny green ones—the delicate baby limas, large green ones, flat white ones and large fat whites. All of them are good if gathered before the milk becomes firm inside the tender shell-like covering. As the beans ripen, this covering becomes hard and difficult to digest and the smooth, creamy centre grows dry and unpalatable. No matter how long the beans are cooked, these conditions cannot be altered nor the vegetable improved.

DELICIOUS IN CREAM

Tender, freshly gathered limas are most delicious served in pure cream. When cream is used, no butter is necessary, so the seasoning is not as extravagant as it sounds. One-half cup cream is seasoned with salt and pepper and added to two cups of cooked limas. Heat to the scalding point, but do not let boil. The cream coats the beans lightly and makes them delightfully moist and smooth.

The best way to serve limas that have been allowed to become over-ripe is to rub them through a sieve after cooking and use them in a purée or soufflé. This removes the tough outer covering but of course does not restore the delicate flavor of the tender vegetable.

Always cook limas in as little water as possible and cook them uncovered. Let the water cook away, or use it in a sauce with butter and a very little flour rubbed together. Rub 1 teaspoon flour into 2 tablespoons butter to thicken ½ cup liquid. This will give you a sauce of about the same thickness as real cream.

"He says more things that sound well and mean nothing than any other human-being I ever saw."

Child Star To Stay With Granny

Custody Suit Over Edith Fellows Is Settled

Associated Press
Hollywood, Aug. 19.—The grandmother who reared Edith Fellows from babyhood retained guardianship of the thirteen-year-old actress by court order today after a legal tilt with the child's mother.

Edith's $2,700 bank account and $200 a week salary, earned as the "problem child" in numerous screen dramas, were assigned to a trust company.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Harriet Fellows, had sought to gain the custody she relinquished to Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, paternal grandmother, eleven years ago.

A lawyer's conference brought a week-long court hearing to sudden termination.

Edith Fellows spent some time in Victoria last year when she took part in the "Tugboat Princess" film produced here.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

At times I feel it desirable to bring to the attention of mothers some especially good book on child care, feeding or training. In such case the book can always be had from any good book department or book store, or if not in stock such book can be ordered so long as the purchaser knows either the name of the book or the author.

Often mention of a book in this department brings in a number of queries as to where it can be purchased. Nothing can be bought from this department, though its author writes various leaflets for the help of mother's problems any of which may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent-stamped envelope and a request for it sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

THEY LIKE FRUIT

Mrs. J. E. C. asks where she can get the book on children's food and how to cook it, suggested in this department some weeks ago. She also writes: "My two children are not fond of vegetables, perhaps new ways of serving them would help. Is fruit as good as vegetables, as they do like fruit?"

"Is there as much nourishment in ready cooked cereals, such as puffed cereals, as in home cooked ones? When should they eat their bread and butter? They will not eat it with meals and they never eat between meals?"

If you would like the leaflet called "Introducing New Foods in the Diet," this contains some suggestions for

Fighting Spanish Rebels

Serene despite the scenes of grim tragedy toward which she was headed, this pretty Spanish riflewoman stood sturdily erect, listening to last instructions from her commander before the march to the front started. One of thousands of Spanish women who took up arms to defend the government, she left Madrid to fight in the campaign against the rebels entrenched in the Guadarrama Mountain passes.

Interesting children in the preparation and also the consumption of vegetables. Vegetables and fruits have similar mineral elements, but vegetables contain considerable starch which fruits do not. They are, therefore, not identical in food value.

Puffed cereals do not contain as much nourishment, tablespoon for tablespoon, as home cooked cereals. One cup of puffed cereal is about equal in nourishment to one tablespoon of home cooked wheat or oats.

If the children eat toast or cereal for breakfast with top milk, potatoes for dinner and various starchy desserts for supper there is no compulsion about bread and butter eating.

Make Mint Jelly Now

By KATHERINE BAKER

Now that spring lamb is at its best, mint jelly comes into its own. It is one of the coolest looking jellies for summer use with leg of lamb or with cold meats. It looks so inviting with a salad and can be used all year round, especially next March, for the St. Patrick Day parties.

The mint jelly of the old south are no more picturesque than the emerald mounds of mint jelly made from Canadian mint, and it can be made any summer's day on which you have a spare half hour. It is a good topping for a pineapple dessert or put into a fruit salad made of melon cubes or balls and decorated with fresh mint leaves.

Mint Jelly

Half cup cider vinegar, 1 cup water,

¼ bottle fruit pectin, ¾ cups (1 pound 7 ounces) sugar, green coloring, ½ to 1 ½ teaspoons spearmint extract.

Measure vinegar, water and sugar into large saucepan. Mix and bring to a boil over hottest fire. While mixture is coming to a boil, add coloring to give desired shade. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. As soon as mixture boils, add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard half minute. Remove from fire, skim, add extract, according to flavor desired. Four quickly. Paraffin and cover at once. Makes about five glasses (six fluid ounces each).

Dressed Up—And Going Places

What the well-dressed couple of New York's smart younger set wears for dining in summer is evident in the costumes of Miss Betty Benjamin, and her escort, George Scofield. Miss Benjamin wears a high-waisted, long-sleeved evening coat of crinkled taffeta, with an unusual scarf neckline and short wide-flaring sleeves. The coat is bright blue and makes a vivid combination with the orange lace evening gown over which it is worn. George Scofield has on a crown colored dinner jacket of Mt. Airy cloth, a new fabric for men's summer slippings. Woven in a self-herringbone effect, this cloth tailors well, does not wrinkle and is said to be remarkably cool.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS RAEBURN is the prettiest girl in Larchmont, fashionable New York suburb, but her father's financial reverses make it hard for her to keep up with her crowd. Wealthy SYLVIA with her father's money, deeply hurt, boots accepts the attentions of RUSSELL, the swimming instructor. She realizes she is in love with him, but she is too proud to tell him. She wants for time to think it over. She dreams the time when her mother will hear about her withdrawal from the club.

Unhappy and restless, Boots goes for a morning walk and meets DENNIS FENWAY, young author. They have a long talk and Dennis is moved by the girl's obvious unhappiness. He wonders what is troubling her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

Mrs. Raeburn came into the living-room with a puzzled expression on her face. "That was Alice Fennell," she said. "I wonder what on earth she wanted. She sounded rather queer."

Boots looked at her eyes, clouding. Her heart had begun to beat irregularly.

"What did she say?"

"Only that she wanted specially to see me. She'll be over at three. Now, what in the world," worried Mrs. Raeburn, plumping a cushion. "What do you suppose it's about?"

Boots shook her head. It was coming—the moment she had so dreaded, the moment which had been artificially postponed by her mother's visit to Aunt Nedda's. Alice Fennell with her steam roller, her tact that was worse than bluntness, her veiled accusations.

Boots went out into the garden blindly. The heat of noonday poured down upon her.

"What am I going to do?" she asked herself. "Mother won't understand. Jane Fennell was starting at me yesterday when I talked to Russ at the beach. And about the juniors. . . . Mother will rave when she knows about it. . . ."

The situation was unendurable.

"I think I'll go to the city for a lunch," she said, coming into the kitchen where her mother was shelling peas. "Here, let me do that." She took the wooden bowl from the thin, nervous hands. Anything, anything for an outlet. . . . The very act of shelling peas, of spurring the little emerald globules into the bowl, relieved her unbearable tension.

"Why, dear, I don't think I'd do that if I were you," her mother said quickly and vaguely. "It's so hot. . . ."

"I've saved up my allowance for three weeks," Boots told her. "I want a big hat. I'll go down to one of those Fourteenth Street places. . . ."

"Well. . . ."

Mrs. Raeburn's objections were silenced. "It would be nice," she fluttered a little later, "if you could drive in with somebody. It's simply stifling on the train. . . ."

Boots agreed. She had no conscious plan, no real idea of doing anything desperate or final. Her one idea, for the moment, was to leave the village and its problems behind her. It was cowardly of her to run off and leave her mother to face Mrs. Fennell. But what else could she do? Perhaps she would have time to run in and see Mrs. George before train time, ask her if anything had turned up about a job on the staff of "Womanhood."

"I'll find something to do in the city," she said, trembling with excitement.

The trust companies in which the funds are placed are to be audited annually by an independent auditor whose certified statement showing receipts, purposes of which it has been used and expenses of the trust companies and of the board is to be published in the two newspapers of Victoria.

The act under which the Foundation is incorporated provides that no director is entitled to receive remuneration for services to the Foundation.

The nominating board provides that the advisory board will always be chosen from reliable citizens.

There are no succession duties levied by the province of British Columbia on bequests made to the Victoria Foundation and gifts or donations to the extent of 10 per cent of the total income are permitted to charity without charge for income tax. The rule applies to any property donated to the Victoria Foundation.

Donors may give instructions how the gift, or bequest, or the income therefrom is to be distributed to any charitable institution within the meaning of this act.

THE VICTORIA FOUNDATION

Community Trust For Administering Charitable Bequests

The Victoria Foundation has been incorporated in Victoria by private act of the province of British Columbia as a community trust to safeguard and administer gifts and bequests for charitable purposes.

The permanent nominating board of the Victoria Foundation consists of the following: The Lieutenant-Governor of the province or in his absence the administrator of the province, the Prime Minister of the province, the Chief Justice of British Columbia, the senior court judge of the county of Victoria and the mayor of the city of Victoria.

David Leeming, mayor of Victoria; F. E. Winslow, E. W. McMullen, B. G. Gadsden and R. H. Brackman-Ker are the first named advisory board of the Victoria Foundation. Solicitors are Lawson and Davis. The auditor is Reginald Genn.

The Victoria Foundation has been formed for the purpose of receiving and holding in trust monies or properties donated or bequeathed for charitable purposes and of allocating the incomes derived from these in accordance with the expressed directions of the donors or testators.

It is believed to be the most modern method of administering charitable gifts and bequests. It is not designed to take the place of the community chest, the Federation of Charities or of individual charitable organizations, but to encourage and support such efforts.

The Foundation will not handle its assets. They are to be always in the custody of a responsible trust company, though registered in the name of the Victoria Foundation as to ownership, and the income will be disbursed as directed by the advisory board of the Foundation.

If it should be necessary to make a change in a responsible trust company, the assets would be transferred by such trustee to the new trustee upon the instructions of the advisory board. In regard to the distribution of charities, the policy of the board would be to make use of charitable institutions, now operating advantageously, rather than afford relief to individual cases.

All receipts and disbursements of People promised all sorts of things and promptly forgot all about them. Dennis Fenway, only this morning, had made a half-hearted promise to look up something for her. But he had probably forgotten that she existed. "You've got to do things for yourself," the girl muttered bitterly. "No one else cares."

The pavements fairly cracked with heat as she walked down to the station. Awaiting her, languidly, against shop windows all along the main street. The asphalt bubbled with tar which stuck to the soles of her white shoes. Her thin dark blue dress, her little dark blue hat with the field flowers were immensely becoming but today all this did not seem to matter.

She passed Ethlyn Tree at the bank corner and the younger girl, whose vacant smile and loud, meaningless laugh she had always rather disliked, stopped a moment to chat.

"Where you been keeping yourself?" Ethlyn wanted to know, languidly. To do her credit, she genuinely admired Boots and was trying to be friendly. But Boots misunderstood the intent and the interest and thought Ethlyn was merely prying.

"I've been around all summer," she said with cool defensiveness, nodding and passing on. Her cheeks burned. That the day should come when she, Boots Raeburn, might be patronized by that stupid little Tree girl! Hatred for Sylvia rose again in her like a tide. All of this was Sylvia's fault. She had her to blame for the whole miserable summer. Oh, if she might pay her back in her own coin! But she was powerless. Sylvia had all the odds in her favor.

The red brick station baked in the heat and Boots found its moldy interior gratefully cool. The rows of dimly benches, the magazine stand with its racks of five-cent candies and sheaves of bright-covered periodicals was a familiar sight. One or two hardy matrons stood about, talking brightly to each other. These she avoided, plunging down the stairway when the train came loping in. When the train came loping in, she swung herself aboard without looking to the right or left. She did not, she told herself grimly, want to spend the entire fifty minutes talking animatedly to some dull neighbor. She came racing along the platform at the last moment, flinging a battered cowhide bag ahead of him. He strode through several swaying cars, glancing intently at each passenger as he went. In the second car the girl in dark blue was seated quite alone, staring moodily out of the window. The broad-shouldered young man's eyes lit on her with satisfaction. He flung the bag into the overhead rack and sat down beside her.

Boots did not stir nor did she show any evidence of interest in her seat-mate, her gaze lost in the flying landscape. They ran past little colonial houses with yards ending in wire fences bordering the railroad right of way. Past the "flats" the train swung and rocked, and here you caught a glimpse of shabby houses with sagging back porches, their doorways a welter of tin cans, old fenders and enterprising chickens. A peeped inquiringly through a jagged tear in the wire and two or three dirty and scantily-dressed children played in a sandbox baking under the sky.

way, unfortunately, because of universal recognition of right-handedness as the standard. Doors, keys, traffic lights, instruments, golf courses and baseball diamonds are laid out in most instances for the benefit of the right-handed person.

It, therefore, is not surprising that occasionally the left-handed child should seem to be more awkward than he really is.

It should be understood that there are two sides to the brain. The left side of the brain controls the movements of the right side of the body, and the right side of the brain controls the movements of the left side of the body.

In the brain there are certain portions which control movements of the hands and eyes, other which control the muscles that take part in speech.

When parents try to change a youngster who is normally left-handed into a right-handed child, they are endeavoring to change the mechanism which controls motions through the nervous system. As a result, the child may hesitate in its motions, this hesitation revealing itself in extraordinary awkwardness and in difficulties in speech.

Thus, many authorities are inclined to credit stuttering and stammering in certain cases to the fact that a normally left-handed child was forced, to become right-handed. Remember, however, that this stuttering and stammering in speech may also be reflected in difficulties in reading, in writing, in thinking and in behavior generally.

If the mental machinery is adjusted to one pattern of motion and an attempt is made to make it operate along different lines, it is not surprising that the attempt should result either in delay or in failure.

Along with left-handedness, there may be left-eyedness. One eye usually is dominant. It is used in sighting for shooting, for golfing, for baseball, or for any other performance which requires eye and hand co-ordination. Remember, also, that the difficulty of adjustment may be so serious as to bring about irritation, fatigue and reactions of obstinacy and stubbornness. Thus, child psychologists insist that children who are lazy, children who lie or steal in an unusual manner, or who manifest other extraordinary forms of conduct may do so simply because of difficulties in adjusting their physical machinery to types of control for which that machinery never was intended.

More residents of New York City ride up and down on elevators, take the combined surface cars, elevated trains, taxis, busses and subways.

PREVENTING A CHILD OF LEFT-HANDEDNESS MAY IMPAIR HIS NERVOUS SYSTEM

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

There are more theories about left and right-handedness than about almost any other of the physical characteristics of a human being. Most of these beliefs are based on symbolism and superstition.

Things that are left-handed, or sinister, are said to be harmful; things that are right-handed, or dextral, are believed pleasant and correct.

Since psychologists began paying attention to these matters we have learned that left-handedness may be normal physical fact. Dr. M. FISHER gloves stirred, sighed, folded her fingers. For the first time she was conscious of the other person in the seat beside her. Some faint, subtle aroma, compounded of tobacco and old tweeds, stirred a sense-memory. Her pulse quickened. She turned with wide, startled eyes under the dark brim of her summer hat.

"You!" she stammered.

The man beside her was Russ Lund.

Two hours later she was seated opposite him in a tea room in the upper fifties. A small square table, painted green, rocked on unsteady legs between them. Paper lace mats ornamented the table surface and imitation Italian pottery cups held cooling coffee, pale and creamy. Boots' sandwich was untouched. Her eyes were bright, her color high.

"I think we must be crazy," she was saying unsteadily, toying with her spoon. "I just came in to do some shopping to look for a job. You can't expect me to go off with you like this at a moment's notice. It wouldn't be right."

Russ shrugged his shoulders impatiently. You could see they had been over this ground before.

"You stay in town tonight. Put up at a hotel, call your mother up and say you've met somebody who wants you to stay over. Haven't you got anybody—a cousin, aunt or anything?"

"Of course. Two or three people."

Boots admitted. "She might think it was funny but she wouldn't worry really. . . ."

"Then tomorrow we'll go down to City Hall, get the license and find a minister to marry us. I'll stay at my brother's in Astoria tonight," Russ elaborated.

"No-no," Boots shook her head. "It would break her heart. I simply can't."

"But you said it would be impossible at home. You told me not an hour ago you simply couldn't go back. That you had to find a way out. . . ."

"I know. I know," she bit her lip. Alice Fennell was with her mother now. After her mother heard the story, Boots would be shipped off to Aunt Nedda's. She would die or dry rot in Aunt Nedda's terrible, dull house. . . .

"Listen, sweet," he began, trying another tack. "You trust me, don't you?"

"Of course I do." The eyes she lifted to his were heavy, their young lustre dimmed.

"Well then, why not take a chance with me? You won't be sorry. A good time. . . . an escape from her difficulties. . . ."

The waitress came, hovering over for the fifth or sixth time, extending a flimsy check with stubby fingers. They wandered out into the baking street between rows of shabby brown stone houses with plane trees, high-fenced, bringing an occasional touch of green into the scene.

"I'm so hot," Boots said childishly, "and my head aches and I'm so tired. . . ."

"Look here, look here," said the young man with concern. He held up two fingers and a roving tail slowed to admit them.

"Hotel Willomere," Russ said.

FLOWER SHOW

SUCCESSFUL

Langford, Aug. 19. — The annual Langford District Flower Show, held at St. Aidan's House, by permission of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Haggie, yesterday, was most successful, and drew a crowd from Victoria, Happpy Valley, Luxton, Colwood and Langford Lake.

Despite the dry season the flowers, fruit and vegetable exhibits were excellent. E. W. White, the judge, commented.

Miss Margaret Leighton judged the women's and children's exhibits, and she noted the fine showing of knitted suits.

Tea was served under the co-operation of Mrs. R. M. Haggie, her committee being Mrs. A. B. Bown, Mrs. H. Simpson, Mrs. R. J. Phillips, and the Misses J. Cropper, R. Bullen, G. and K. Staverman, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Mrs. F. N. Welch and Miss L. M. A. Savory were responsible for the arrangement of exhibits.

A health exhibit was in charge of Mrs. M. E. Hutchinson.

R. Bray's display of corn, grain and vegetables was much admired.

A home cooking stall was presided over by Mrs. J. E. MacDonald. Ice cream was served by Mrs. D. M. Malcolm. Mrs. H. A. Hincks ran a house-house game.

A handsome cake plate donated by L. G. Wilkinson was won by Mrs. W. Hamilton. Mrs. R. M. Haggie obtained the second prize.

PIMPLES NEARLY AS BIG AS BOILS

Face Clear Again With Cuticura Soap and Ointment

Here is a letter every skin sufferer should read. Its message is vital.

"Pimples affected my face and neck and at times would turn nearly as big as boils. They would itch and burn something terrible. I had to scratch and that made them worse, and they were unalightly to look at.

"But after using 3 cakes of Cuticura Soap and 2 boxes of Cuticura Ointment, my face was clear again."

(Signed) Mr. R. Robar, 34 Compton Avenue, Halifax, N.S.

Physicians can understand such letters. The Cuticura formulas have proved their effectiveness for over half a century. Remember, Cuticura Soap and Ointment are also for pimples, rashes, ringworm, burning of eczema and other externally caused skin blemishes. All druggists. Soap 25c. Ointment 25c.

New Find Of Trojan War Upholds Homer's Old Tale

London, Aug. 19.—When Homer sang that Greek warrior Achilles raided the Isle of Lesbos at the start of the Trojan War, he was repeating history, not legend.

So Miss Winifred Lamb, archaeologist of the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge University, is inclined to think after excavating the ancient town of Thermi, on the island of Lesbos.

Resistantly advancing this romantic theory in a sober and technical report of her excavations, Miss Lamb tells the evidence. She found a great fire blackened and reddened the soil around the mound where the town stood in Bronze Age days. Pottery the town folk used is identified as archaeological evidence that the fire occurred no later than 1200 B.C. That would be just before the Trojan siege, according to the most usual dating.

"If we turn to Book Nine of the Iliad," says Miss Lamb, "we find an allusion to Achilles' raid on Lesbos, which may, as Professor Myres points out, have been a necessary strategic prelude to the capture of Troy. This event also is believed to have occurred about 1200 B.C. Readers may press the attractive coincidence or point out its weakness according to their taste."

Whether the latest discoveries uphold Homer or not, they have revealed a town not far across the water from Troy, that came under the influence of powerful Troy and acquired its styles and ideas of culture.

Five layers of ruins have been excavated, the oldest dating to perhaps 3200 B.C., when the pre-historic community worked badly at stone weapons, artistically with clay, and had a primitive knowledge of working metal.

They built stone houses with no defensive walls around—a sign of peaceful times. And they raised goats, pigs and probably oxen.

FLAGON WILL BE PRESENTED

Gift Will Be Made to Cathedral on Friday By Sir Percy Vincent

An ancient flagon, the gift of the rector and churchwardens of the Church of St. Mary Woolnoth, London, will be presented by Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, to Christ Church Cathedral at a special service at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

A description of the flagon has been received by Dean Cecil S. Quainton from Rev. W. E. S. Holland of St. Mary Woolnoth.

It is fifteen inches high, weighs seventy-two ounces and is of silver-gilt. It is one of a pair dated 1587, and was presented to the united parishes of St. Mary Woolnoth and St. Mary Woolchurch Haw in 1697 in exchange for plate that had been given to the latter church seventy years previously by Sir Thomas Rich, merchant, knight and baronet.

The flagon, which will be used for Holy Communion, has been made over to Sir Percy Vincent by the rector and council of St. Mary Woolnoth, which is the parish church of the Mansion House, for presentation by him "as a permanent loan" to Christ Church Cathedral.

The order of service for the presentation ceremony has now been published. The rites will begin with the singing of the hymn "Now Thank We

All Our God," to be followed by the reading of portions of the Scriptures by Dean Quainton. The reading will be followed by prayers and responses, after which Bishop H. E. Sexton will read Psalm 84. Then the hymn "Lord of Heaven and Earth and Ocean" will be sung.

The Lord Mayor will be met at the west end of the cathedral by the bishop, the dean and the churchwardens, and will be conducted to his seat. In making the presentation he will "say such words as he may deem fitting," and the dean, accepting the flagon, "shall make grateful reply." The dean will then hand the flagon to the churchwardens, placing it in his custody "on behalf of the bishop, the dean and chapter of the cathedral and congregation of the cathedral parish."

The churchwardens will then return the flagon to the dean to be placed on the altar, and the service will conclude with the singing of the hymn "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" and the National Anthem.

Mayor David Leeming of Victoria and the reeves of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt have been invited to attend the service with other civic officers.

Polite Retort

A young man was escorting his latest young lady out of the theatre. Anxious to make a good impression on her, he held his hat in his hand, carrying it carefully upright to keep it from being crushed.

One of the onlookers, who was watching the outflow, spotted the hat and seized on the chance to be witty. "Hey," he shouted, "are you going to take up a collection?"

The young man looked around a second before he realized that he was the one addressed. "Why, no," he answered softly, "not if you and your organ-grinder were here first."

Premier Attacks C.C.F. Junta Rule

Could Only Function By "Ruthless and Dictatorial Methods," Says Pattullo in Opening Burrard Campaign: Conservatives Have Stand-pat Policy

Vancouver, Aug. 19.—The Vancouver-Burrard provincial by-election campaign was under way today for two weeks' duration.

Premier Pattullo fired the opening guns for the Liberal party last night, telling a capacity audience at a suburban dance hall that the policies of the C.C.F. party were nebulous and visionary and impossible of fulfillment.

Speaking in support of the Liberal candidate for the seat made vacant by resignation of Mayor G. G. McGee, M.P., the Premier said of the C.C.F.: "Its platform is impossible of fulfillment, as most of its adherents realize. Even were it possible to attempt to try it, it could only function by ruthless and dictatorial methods."

"We find already in the C.C.F. that individual liberty and freedom is gone. You must submit to the dictation of a little all-powerful junta, or off goes your head as has already occurred within their own ranks."

Concerning the Conservative platform the Premier said: "There is nothing spectacular about it and the policy they would undoubtedly pursue would be a stand-pat one."

The Premier reviewed the Liberal platform upon which his government declared: "We have either carried out, or are in the process of carrying out, nearly all the planks laid down."

FINANCIAL RECORD

In finance, "we have not only kept current expenditure within current revenue, but have had such surpluses in the last two and one-half years that we recently paid off a maturing obligation of $3,500,000, and this notwithstanding the fact that when we took office, our credit had been shut off, while we had $1,000,000 of immediate current obligations to meet and no money to meet it."

Regarding the slogan, "work and wages," which the government had been attacked, "I have nothing whatever to withdraw in connection with any statement I ever made upon this subject. I have always maintained that a programme of public undertakings to supplement private enterprise is absolutely essential in Canada if we are to take up the slack of unemployment and get away from wholesale direct relief. I have consistently maintained that primary responsibility in the unemployment problem rests upon Dominion authority, and I have always pressed a works programme upon the basis of the use of national credit in co-operation with the provinces."

"Under the British North America Act, the provinces are not in control of currency and banking."

Within the limits of the government's authority, "we have certainly carried out our pledges. We have co-operated with industry to secure wider markets and extend payrolls; our minimum wage and hours of work acts have added millions to the annual payroll, and we have carried out public undertakings of various character to the extent that we have been able with the money available."

In education, "sound minds and sound physical bodies are our aim."

AID FOR CITIES

In regard to municipalities, "we have been of considerable assistance. We had hoped to be able to adjust our relationship to the Dominion so as to secure additional sources of revenue that would enable us to deal more effectively with the municipalities. Recently the House of Commons passed a resolution which would have given the province additional powers of taxation under the British North America Act, but our worthy senate threw the measure out. The problem, however, has been and is under minute study by the Department of Finance and the Department of Municipal Affairs and a measure will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature, which will be of very substantial benefit to the municipalities."

Of the future, the Premier said: "There are a number of outstanding matters between the Dominion and ourselves. There is the matter of unemployment, the question of better terms, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, our financial relationships and so forth. These are necessarily a process of continued negotiation. I hope that in the very near future we may be able to negotiate some of these problems on a basis of mutual satisfaction."

GET ON OWN FEET

"It is the aim and object of this government to place the province in such a sound position that we shall be able to function within the ambit of our jurisdiction without appeal to the Dominion for aid. This is the crux of the whole position, and to this end we shall unswervingly bend our efforts."

"You will be glad to know that at the last Dominion conference Rt. Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King laid it down as a cardinal principle that it was the desire of the Dominion Government that the provinces should be placed in a position where they could function within the measure of their own jurisdiction without any assistance whatever from Ottawa. To place ourselves in impregnable position is the task ahead of us."

Howard Forrester, the Liberal candidate, was an "up-standing, clean-cut citizen in whom the citizens may well have every confidence."

The elections of Burrard could be of service to British Columbia as a whole in strengthening the hands of the government in its representations to Ottawa and in showing "the people of Eastern Canada that the people of British Columbia are behind their government in what they are trying to do to strengthen the position of British Columbia in the confederation of Canada."

Irsael Loses To Midget Wolgast

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—Another Mexican featherweight was numbered today among the victims of Henry Armstrong, St. Louis negro and California-recognized champion.

Just a month after he outpointed Baby Arizendi for the state title, Armstrong busied his way to a four-round knockout over Juan Zurita, Mexico City, here yesterday evening.

Fancy hitting won Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia veteran, an eight-round decision over Able Israel, Seattle.

Israel tired badly after the third and hit the canvas for three counts in the seventh. Each weighed 130.

In short A specialist advances the theory that men with short legs live the longer.

The average man, I don't suppose, will let this theory carry him. It merely means that a man's life goes as fast as his legs will carry him."

STUDIO TO BE FAIR FEATURE

Sets and Equipment of Central Films on View September 12 to 19

Victoria's miniature Hollywood, the studio of Central Films Ltd., will provide one of the major exhibition attractions during the British Columbia Agricultural Association's fall fair from September 12 to 19.

The studio will be thrown open to the public and those passing through the doors will view various sets and equipment used in the filming of the different pictures here during the year.

The manner in which effects are secured in filming and the properties which go to form the background for the action in studio shots will be on display in the structure which has been specially sound-proofed to keep out alien noises during filming operations.

GOOD WORKMANSHIP
Among the sets will be those viewed in various parts of the empire where the special quota pictures are shown. The workmanship displayed in them is of exceptionally high calibre and will provide the visitor with an excellent idea of the physical assets which go into the make-believe world of the movies.

The studio has been made available to the fair association to assist in furnishing funds to improve the Automobile Building, but the action of the film company has the secondary purpose of illustrating to Victorians and outsiders the steps that have been made in the industry.

Two years ago sets of Victoria-made pictures attracted wide attention during the fair week, but their popularity as an exhibition attraction is expected to be completely dwarfed by that of the more impressive sets and equipment to be displayed this year.

Lord Tweedsmuir After Steelhead

His Excellency the Governor-General, spending a day out of the public eye, was casting flies in the smooth waters of the Stamp River today in pursuit of the fighting steelhead.

Lord Tweedsmuir was accompanied on his fishing expedition by General Noel Money, whose guest he is at Quilicum Beach Hotel following a triumphal tour by car up the island yesterday when he was warmly cheered at various centres.

At Duncan Her Excellency the Lady Tweedsmuir was presented with an Indian basket, made by Indians of the district.

In Nanaimo, attending a civic luncheon, Lord Tweedsmuir spoke briefly in replying to the official welcome, saying:

"I never saw anything like it. I never dreamed such beauty existed on Vancouver Island. The gardens have been a revelation, and we have been amazed to see flowers of England thriving here, and in many places better than in the Old Country."

Pictures of the Nanaimo bastion and of the old Princess Royal were presented to the Lady Tweedsmuir. Tomorrow in Courtenay the Governor-General will be guest of honor at a luncheon tendered by the citizens.

He will join the Lieutenant-Governor's yacht Vencador at Comox for a salmon fishing trip to Campbell River Friday.

LIKES COWBOY SONGS

Nanaimo, Aug. 19. — Either the Governor-General is just being polite or else he really would like to learn a cowboy song or two. He was visiting this island mining city yesterday when a service club delegation burst into song, rendering some of the latest string of covered wagon and range numbers. "I know English songs, and, of course, Scottish songs, and certainly I shall have to learn these," Lord Tweedsmuir said.

With that the service club delegation switched to "Loch Lomond."

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

AUGUST 19, 1911

(From The Times Files)
Mayor Morley's very timely and valuable suggestion that an inquiry be undertaken into the high cost of living in Victoria was adopted by the City Council last evening, despite some criticism and objection, and as commissioners to give effect to the council's desire for information, H. J. Pullen and John Dean were appointed to investigate existing conditions, collect data and make a report to the City Council.

Having completed the paving with light asphalt of Queen's Avenue, the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company started the attack yesterday on the Yates Street binder. The company's efforts were closely watched during the forenoon by many interested spectators and public officials who were desirous of having the first view of the much-talked-of binder combination.

H. E. Beasley, superintendent of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, has returned to town after a tour of inspection of the line. The rails are laid as far as Alberni yards and the ballasting is now being rapidly proceeded with.

Find Egg Diet Helps Arthritis

Richmond, Aug. 19.—"Eat eggs" is the message of five doctors of the Medical College of Virginia to people who suffer from arthritis. Drs. J. C. Forbes, R. C. Neale, O. L. Hite, D. B.

Armistead and S. L. Rucker have found that diets which contain a great deal of sulphur and little carbohydrate are beneficial to sufferers from the painful disease. Arthritis, these doctors find, is accompanied by the presence of indole in the blood. This is a chemical produced by the decomposition of body products. It has long been known to be deleterious. To remove this indole the body needs sulphur. The Virginia doctors, therefore, feed their arthritis patients on diets which has sulphur, such as is found in meat and eggs. To aid in preventing indole production in the body only very little carbohydrate is fed. Such foods as potatoes and rice are entirely eliminated from the diet. The results of this diet, the doctors find, are promising. In one case the patient was kept on an ordinary diet for a month. There was a good deal of indole in his blood, and he suffered considerably. After a month on the special diet there were only traces of indole in his blood, and he felt stronger, suffered less. At the end of another month there was no indole in the blood, and the patient was considerably improved. In another case, after having been on the diet for some months, the patient temporarily stopped following it. He had completely lost his pains, but they came back almost immediately. Once again on the diet, the pains left him.

Joe Louis Is Safely Launched On His Fistic Comeback

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

CREAT BRITAIN retained the Davis Cup, but Australia presented, in Adrian Quist, a young man who may take the cup to Australia in 1937.

Pitted against von Cramm, in the inter-zone final, Quist, who was suffering from a sprained ankle which would have put most players out of the game, gave one of the greatest shows ever seen in the Davis Cup or out of it.

The Australian appar to be undecided about the 1937 cup series. By going into the American zone this year, they saved themselves a lot of traveling, and had, as it happened, to win only one match in order to qualify for the challenge round.

Apert from Quist, English experts pick Budge as the next champion of the world. The next time Perry and Budge meet at Wimbledon, if they do, the American should go very close indeed.

They believe in Germany, as they are coming to believe in France, that young blood must have its chance. Henkel next year will have just the experience which he so obviously needed this. And he has all the strokes of the game at his command today.

Scotland holds the original Walker Cup. Very few people know that the Walker Cup was originally presented for an annual match between England and Scotland, but nearly everyone knows about the trophy presented by a former president of the United States Golf Association, George H. Walker.

This better known Walker Cup has, so far, been contested only by Britain and America, but actually any country in the world can challenge for it, and, with the growing popularity of the game, it may not be many years before there is a tournament similar to the Davis Cup tournament in lawn tennis.

With the major international at Pine Valley, New Jersey, in view, many members of the British team are "training" hard. Some of them have been playing under professional supervision, and others have been using the larger ball which they will have to use in America. The British players are doing their best to make the match a hard one for the Americans to win.

NEGRO BATTLER PUTS SHARKEY OUT IN THIRD

Experts Dubious as to Whether Result Proves Louis' Recovery

Former Champion Down Four Times

By BOB CAVAGNARO

New York, Aug. 19.—Back in the full glare of the fistic spotlight, Joe Louis and his entourage today were wondering "where do we go from here?" The Sepian sharp-shooter, with a display of the savagery that made bloody hulks of Primo Carnera and Max Baer, cut down Jack Sharkey, the white-eyed tavern keeper from Boston, in 1.02 of the third round yesterday evening in Yankee Stadium before fewer than 30,000 spectators.

Louis made good in the same ring where two months ago he was flattened by Max Schmeling in twelve rounds. When he entered the ring he was greeted with a mixture of cheers and boos. After Sharkey took the ten-count, the crowd still was lukewarm toward the twenty-two-year-old Detroit heavyweight.

STILL SOME DOUBT The victory did one thing—it launched the erstwhile superman on the comeback trail. But it left room for plenty of doubt whether Louis is the destructive fistfuler he used to be.

Louis had the fight well in hand from the start. He cornered the thirty-three-year-old former sailor in the opening seconds, lathered him with a stream of lefts and rights and it looked like the fight might end right there, but Sharkey weathered the storm, emerging with a pinked nose.

In the second heat Louis, twice dropped the Boston gob for counts of nine as he opened a nasty cut over Sharkey's left eye. Anxiety cost Louis a chance to put over the finishing blow then and there. He tapped the tips of his gloves against each other nervously, wasting precious seconds as the bell tolled the end of the round with Sharkey holding on.

When the bell sent them out for the third round, Louis tore in with a rush, nailed Sharkey with a right to the jaw that sent him sprawling on the canvas, almost outside the ropes. Sharkey rose at the count of nine and then, as if drawn by a magnet, walked right into a shower of lefts and rights that ended the fight. Just for the record, the last blow Louis landed was a left-hand smash to the jaw.

The full extent of Louis' recovery and his greatness cannot be calculated. He left the experts and the masses wondering. Louis learned one lesson from his bout with Schmeling—he kept his jabbing left higher as a safeguard against right-hand blows. But, as referee Artie Donovan said: "Except to say that Louis appeared a little more alert, what else did it prove?"

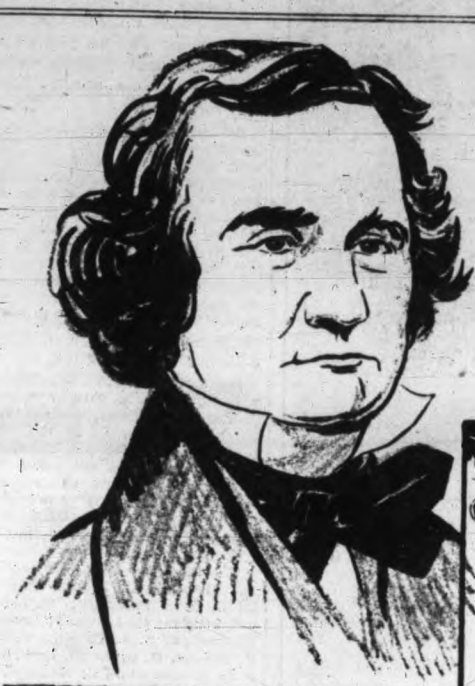

ROUND ONE Arthur Donovan called them to the centre of the ring. Louis peppered a couple of lefts then missed a right swing to the head as they neared a clinch. Louis caught Sharkey with two hard rights and drove him to the ropes with two lefts and a series of right upercuts. Sharkey jabbed, but missed a right as they went into a clinch. Louis caught Sharkey on the ropes with another right and then missed a left as Sharkey held.

Joe jabbed with his left and caught Sharkey's right on his glove. The former champion landed several light rights from in close and then danced away, keeping his left in the negro's face. Louis landed a hard right to the body at the bell. Louis' round.

NORTH SHORE WINS BATTLE

Leaders in Intercity Box Lacrosse League Troughed Homes 20 to 15

Vancouver, Aug. 18.—North Shore Indians yesterday evening consolidated their hold on first place in the Intercity Box Lacrosse League with a 20 to 15 win over Homes.

Russell Smith and Oscar Bomberly scored four goals each to lead the Indians' attack. Homes scored four times to Indians' twice in the opening period but the red men came back strong in the next to tally six times to Homes once.

The North Shore tribesmen finished the third period on the short end of a 11 to 10 count but a whirlwind attack in the final frame netted them ten goals while they held their rivals to four.

Ken McGuire took the goal-scoring honors on the Home team, netting four times.

Indian Broom To Pack 129 Pounds

Major Austin Taylor's Great Thoroughbred Given Top Weight For Longacres $10,000-mile on August 30; Classy Entry List

Renton, Aug. 19.—Weights for the $10,000 Longacres mile, summer coast turf classic, were announced yesterday. The figures find Indian Broom, Major Austin Taylor's champion, topping the list with 129 pounds for the mile grind on Sunday, August 30.

Twenty-two horses received weights. These included the Washington Derby winner, Blue Boot; the Seattle Handicap winner, Primulus; the speed sensations, Mad Jos, Alviso and Bartlett; Major Taylor's supporting contingent of Canadians, Bonny Grafton and Torolee.

Earl Breesley, trainer for Hynes and Beesley, indicated yesterday he will prepare Blue Boot for the Longacres Mile along with Chief Pilot, High Image and Two Tricks. High Image becomes his main reliance in event of rain.

Chief Louis Almgren seriously considers sending a pair of starters into action from his trio—Bartlett, Alviso and Davidor.

Weights for the $10,000 Longacres Mile follow: Davidor 108, Alviso 105, Bartlett 105, Khayyam 95, Whispey 95, Guaranty 95, Primulus 106, Mad Jos 102, R. D. Powers 96, Two Tricks 109, Chief Pilot 104, High Image 106, Blue Boot 105, Lady Roma 98, Flucky Jack 104, Indian Broom 129, Torolee 110, Bonny Grafton 115, Maid of Perth 97, Sir Gawaine 97, Goldstream 103, McCarthy 108.

Big Business Has Entered Cricket

English County Play Being Spoiled By Money Angle; "Anything to Win" Spirit Dominates; Recent Incidents Provide Proof

London, Aug. 19.—The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Current English says that sport is "amusement, diversion, fun." Cricket is, or used to be, a characteristically English sporting game. But, asks a correspondent of The London News-Chronicle, is there any fun, amusement or diversion left in the nationally followed grim and joyless encounters on the cricket fields today? And if the answer is "no," can there be any doubt that what fun there has been driven away by the brooding god money?

GLOWS EVEN BALL SERIES

A Division Softball Champs Beat Bruins 4 to 3 to Dead-lock Title Play

"We will apply pressure in the next game," quoth "Red" Lawson, prophetic voice of Silent Glows, a division city softball champions, following that team's 4 to 3 victory over Painter's Bruins, B section titleholders, at the Athletic Park yesterday evening.

The result, achieved when Ruben Lamb singled to drive home the winning run in the sixth frame, put the teams on even terms for the city championship laurels which will be decided in a third and final fixture at the enclosure tomorrow evening. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

Bruins, who upset the high-flying division champions in the initial game of the series, started off well in their second engagement, scoring a run in both the first and second innings. Silent Glows sent one man around in the second, but trailed by two runs when the Bruins scored again in the fifth.

HIG INNING The Glows made the most of a big sixth inning, capped when Lamb smashed his bingle to centre field to score Turner and Robertson to complete a three-run rally that brought them through to victory. Neither squad scored in the seventh, when play was halted on account of darkness.

Ken Fleming led the batting parade for the Glows, clouting two singles and a double in three times at bat.

Turner, on the hill for the Bruins, was inclined to wildness, giving seven walks. Jack "Poker Face" Caddell made one of the most sensational plays of the evening, taking a foul fly from Roy Ockell after a neat display of juggling.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Silent Glows... 0100030-4 7 4 Painter's Bruins... 1100100-3 5 1 Batteries—C. Turner and Caddell; H. Turner and Berry. Umpires—Pick and Waller.

New York Giants Win Pair In Great Home-stretch Drive

Overcome Jinx To Defeat Brooklyn; Cards In Victory

Only Game and Half Out of First Place; Chicago Cubs Lose

LEFTY GROVE IN FIFTEENTH WIN

Frankie Frisch, that old magician of the diamond, seems to have pulled a mound brigade out of the hat to bolster the St. Louis Cardinals' overworked pitching staff, heretofore made up almost completely of Dizzy Dean.

First he came up with rookie Jim Winford, who threatens to be the best of the season's freshman elbowers. Now St. Johnson, the ex-Cincinnati Red and more recently on the International League's Toronto Leafs, looks like the goods.

As a result, those fast-traveling New York Giants are going to have a tough time closing up the one and a half game gap between themselves and the Cards.

In yesterday's programme, the gas-house gang, with St. Johnson on the firing line, topped the Reds 4 to 1, and the Giants handed their perennial jinx, the boys from Brooklyn, a double lacing, 5 to 3 and 11 to 5.

The New York Yankees found the Washington Senators too much again and bowed, 9 to 2 for the second straight day in a game that saw Bump Hadley's eleven-game pitching winning streak end abruptly.

By winning, the Senators held to fifth place in the American League. The second-place Cleveland Indians didn't profit by the Yankees' defeat, however, as the Chicago White Sox pounded out an 11 to 10 victory in ten innings, to keep the tribe eleven and a half games back of the Yanks.

The Detroit Tigers fired thirty-eight hits in a pair of tilts at St. Louis, but managed only a split with the Browns, taking the nightcap 15 to 3 behind Eddie Auker's six-hit pitching, after dropping the opener 10 to 7.

Rick Ferrell's big bat helped Lefty Grove to his fifteenth win of the season, as the Boston Red Sox slugged the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 2.

The Chicago Cubs fell farther back of the Giants in the National League chase by getting only an even break in a twin bill with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Larry French's pitching took the opener 5 to 4, while comebacker Waite Hoyt turned in a six-hit job

Los Angeles scored a double knock-down over Portland's league-leading Beavers yesterday evening to narrow the Coast League race and definitely insert the Seraphs right in the thick of a battle for one of the first division play-off berths.

As a result of the week's series openers six teams were 500 or better in the standings today.
The first eleven innings for the Angels to win the first one, 3 to 4, but they took the seven-inning contest 10 to 1. Seattle remained one game behind the Beavers by running in Samuel Gibson on a good night and losing to the San Francisco Seals, 4 to 1. San Diego stood off a savage last-inning attack and outlasted Sacramento, 7 to 6, to move within two games of first place.
Oakland went one up on the Missions in their fourth-place battle by winning an eleven-inning tussle, 2 to 1, and was only three games removed from first.

GERMAN WOULD WIN—GIBBONS
Former Heavyweight Battler Thinks Schmeling Would Beat Louis Again

Toronto, Aug. 19.—A return fight this fall between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling would result in a second victory for the German, Tommy Gibbons, former heavyweight fighter, predicted here today.
"If Joe Louis fights Schmeling this fall, I'll pick Schmeling to whip him again," said the man who stayed fifteen rounds with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., thirteen years ago. "This Louis is a pretty good boy."

said Gibbons, in Toronto for the Knights of Columbus convention. "It's hard to grade fighters years apart. But the Dempsey I fought—well, Bomber Joe would have had his hands full."
"You see, Schmeling was the first man held met with real courage. It was Schmeling's courage that won for him in June, and I'm betting it will win for him again."

Referees Named For Tournament
Named as referees for the army and navy boxing card Friday evening at the Bay Street Armories are Instructor Lieut.-Commander Hodien and Lieut.-Commander A. P. Gibson of H.M.S. Apollo.

Ten bouts are listed on the attractive programme with the first at 8:30 o'clock. Fighters from the visiting cruiser Apollo, Royal Canadian Navy, West Point Barracks, Canadian Scottish and Fifth Regiment will be seen in action.

VICTORIA CLUB AGAN VICTOR

Host Side Takes Second Match in Cricket Week at Macdonald Park

Honors again went to the Victoria Cricket Club, host team in the cricket week in progress at Macdonald Park, yesterday as the team defeated a side captained by C. W. Twite.

Batting first the Victoria Club put up 131, to which Twite's side replied with 59 for eight wickets. In the second innings Victoria added 119 for two and held their lead when their opponents were only able to score 126 for four when the game was halted.

J. R. Appleton, with 48, R. H. Moffatt, with 30, and H. A. Goward with 23 not out, led the Victoria club in the scoring during the first innings. In the second Gibbons again hit out for 58 and Peers put up 56 not out.

WENMAN HIGH BAT
For Twite's team Reg Wenman, with 19, and Twite with 27 were high in the first innings, while Wenman hit his stride for 58 in the second innings and Twite put on another 46 in a partnership which threatened to overcome the host club's lead.

The following team will represent the Victoria Club against Vancouver North Shore tomorrow: H. A. Goward, captain; G. Austin, P. Austin, A. F. Mitchell, H. A. Tomalin, T. Peers, F. Bosson, C. C. Grant, D. V. Pallen, J. R. Appleton and R. Wenman.

PIGEON RACING

The Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held a race over the week-end from Centra, Wash., an air line of 120 miles.

The birds were liberated by the railway express agent at 7 o'clock in the morning and the first bird arrived at his loft at 11:15.57. There were thirty-four entries.

The only four to report was as follows:
H.M.S.
J. Denoni..... 4:15.57
J. Bowcott..... 4:17.11
W. Bryan..... 4:19.39
W. Tait..... 4:27.23
J. Denoni won the nominated pool. The next race will be from Castle Rock, an air line of 130 miles.
Bryan's Fish Market, 1402 Douglas Street, has donated a special for first bird in the next race.

Birds will be marked as usual at club rooms Saturday at 1 o'clock and the clocks set on Saturday at 8 o'clock. Entries for this race must be in the hands of the secretary, W. Tait, 2009 Belmont Avenue, by Saturday noon.

head and sent him down with a hard right for a count of nine. Louis landed a right and left to Sharkey's body, flooring him for a count of nine again. Louis tore in again with lefts and rights as Sharkey hung on desperately. Another left sent Jack reeling, but he came back and held on at the bell. Louis's round.

ROUND THREE
Louis sparred carefully, but Jack came in with a left that forced the negro to give ground. Louis sent Sharkey down with two lefts for a count of nine. Sharkey appeared to be out on his feet as Louis sent him to the mat with two lefts for the final count.

In the last seventy-five years, about 100 monarchs, presidents, princes and other high officials of state have been murdered.

Local Track Stars Ready For Big Meet

Y.M.C.A. Fliers Preparing For Island Title Events at Nanaimo on Labor Day; to Run in Navy Week Sports Saturday

Facing two big meets, one on Saturday at Macdonald Park and the other on Labor Day at Nanaimo, Victoria's track and field brigade continued consistent training this week with the goal of grand sweeps in both Navy Week open event sports and the Island men's championships at the Coal City, before them.

The local fliers from the Y.M.C.A. have established a great record in Nanaimo's annual games, and have returned to Victoria with the lion's share of trophies in recent years.

They expect to make the forthcoming meet up-land no exception, although they appreciate the relative strengths of Hugh Thomson, wiry miler who should be back from Europe for the meet, and Grant Williams, speedy young sprinter of the host town.

Joe Addison, Chuck Cunningham, Bill Dale, Paul Rowe, Freddy Smith and several other regulars are expected to give the locals the backbone of a particularly strong team for the invasion.

In the girls' section, Virginia Hall is figured the leading bet for British Columbia women's championships at stake in the meet.

There is a possibility Art Chapman, last year will be Captain W. E. Tapley.

at present with the Canadian Olympic basketball team, may be back in time to defend his aggregate championship in the island meet. Chapman won the high jump, hop-step-and-jump and shotput last year.
Addison will be out to recapture the aggregate honors he once held. Last year he won his specialty, the quarter, and took the 100 yards sprint for runner-up laurels.

In other sections the Victoria boys virtually made it a field day, allowing Thomson and Grant Williams of Nanaimo, and Chuck Williams of Duncan, the only first places in the island events they did not take.

This year the bicycle race from Ladysmith will probably be held earlier to allow riders to complete the long grind before the track events get under way.

Entries for the different events on the programme may be secured from Joe Addison through application at the Y.M.C.A.

TO HOLD TROPHY SHOOT SATURDAY

Heals Range will be the scene of the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association shoot on Saturday in the annual Weiler trophy match. The competition will be carried on over 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges and will take three weeks to complete. The second stage will be carried out August 29 and the final, September 5. On hand to defend his laurels won last year will be Captain W. E. Tapley.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Theft of a hot water tank from her vacant house at 3025 Blackwood Avenue has been reported to the police by Mrs. Lloyd Morgan, Pemberton Road.

Butions won by members during the month will be presented to them at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Spanish Inlet Anglers' Association in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the central executive of the Victoria Liberal Association, which was called for tomorrow night has been postponed until Tuesday next at 8 o'clock, owing to the death of W. H. Kinsman, president of the association.

Prize winners at the weekly card party of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club are as follows: Ladies, first, Miss E. Mutch; second, Mrs. L. McGregor; men, first, T. Saleson; second, Mrs. Constable; consolation, Mrs. E. Orchin and Mrs. S. Randall.

The battered remains of a human being found at Kelowna yesterday morning and believed to be the result of a hit and run accident, were today identified as those of John Edgar, an employee of the bridge department of the C.P.R. at Kelowna. According to advice received over the provincial police radio today, police are investigating the fatality which resulted in Edgar having nearly every bone in his body broken and left at the roadside.

A cat that had been isolated on the roof of a house at 774 Front Street for two days was brought to safety yesterday afternoon by firemen of the Victoria West Hall. The lady who owned the feline pet had tried in vain to coax it down after it had been chased to the house top by a dog. Finally she pleaded for assistance from the fire department. Ladders were sent over and in a few minutes the cat was returned to safety, hungry but happier.

A thief who entered the bedroom of Mrs. Mary Pridham, 2536 Blanshard Street, while she was out for a few minutes during one morning this week, stole $200 from between the seams of her bed cover where she had hidden, according to a police report. All except $2 of the money was taken. Mrs. Pridham reported she had hidden the money between the seams which were pinned with a safety pin. There were $202 in all and when she returned to her room she found a $2 bill on the floor with the safety pin.

On an inspection tour of Vancouver Island roads which will take him to Powell River by way of Campbell River, Hon. P. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, left here yesterday. He is due to return Friday. Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, is in Vancouver attending the Canadian Union of Municipalities convention. Premier Pattullo is expected back tomorrow from Vancouver, where he opened the Burrard by-election campaign yesterday. Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, is also on the mainland, expected back Friday.

LORD MAYOR IMPRESSED

Sir P. Vincent Talks of Rockies and Prairie Wheatlands

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 19.—Two things in particular impressed Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, as he crossed Canada. One was the Rocky Mountains, and the other—"mining of the prairie wheatlands."

He did not think, he said on his arrival last night, it was agriculture to continually take from the soil without returning something adequate to it. "Canada needed more people, he thought, pioneer types who could stand the first years of loneliness. Sir Percy and his party were interested spectators yesterday in repair work along the Canadian Pacific Railway line where mudslides held them up for twelve hours near Spence's Bridge. They thought the work was performed in remarkably quick order, dispelling fleeting thoughts that food might have to be dropped to them from airplanes as they were stalled between mudslides.

To Hold Time Trial Monday

On Monday evening next at 5.30 o'clock the first of a series of time trials staged annually by the Victoria Cycle Club will be held. In the senior event riders will cover a twenty-five-mile course, and those competing in the junior trial will ride over a 7.6 mile course. The start and finish of both trials will be at the corner of Quadra and Market Streets.

The total of points will count in deciding the winner of the Ravenhill Cup for senior riders and the holder of the silver trophy award for the juniors, John Newman, Sanich, is the present holder of the senior trophy.

ELECTION SHOCK
St. Apollinaire, Que., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press)—John Martineau, seventy-three, asked a friend the result of the election in the L'Anse-au-Loup constituency. He dropped dead when told Hon. J. M. Franchou, Liberal member for the county since 1908.

WILL ARRANGE MORE MOVIES

Central Films Head to Leave For South Shortly With Fair Plans Complete

With everything arranged for the use of the Central Films studio at the Willows as one of the highlight entertainment features of the Fall Fair, Kenneth J. Bishop, president of the company, will leave shortly for Hollywood to make arrangements for further pictures to be produced locally.

With the controversy over the studio building settled, Mr. Bishop is planning a considerable programme of development, and during the next year it is expected Central Films will produce considerably more than six pictures, the schedule for their first year of operation which has just been completed.

Tentative plans are already under way for the production of a racing story, "Dimpy," the tale of a weaver orphan and the results of his entry into the life of a wealthy racing stable owner.

Mr. Bishop hopes to get this picture under way immediately following the races at the Willows, when horses will be available and the track in good condition.

DISPLAY AT FAIR

Visitors to the fair, which will be open this year from September 12 to 19, will have a chance to see the complicated machinery and the elaborate settings with which modern talkies are made.

Mr. Bishop has erected at the Willows studio selected sets from several of Central Films' pictures. They include the fine living-room from the last production, "Why Let 'Em Live?" J. J. MacTavish's parashoot from the same picture; the bar which has been featured in several western and mounted police stories. The interior of a railroad car from "Stop, Look and Love," released under the title of "Lucky Fugitives," and the tugboat interior from "Tugboat Princess."

The sets will be fully dressed, that is to say furnished and decorated down to the last detail. Gas masks and soda siphons on tables, and a good many of the powerful lights which illuminate them during production will be in place.

Outside the studio the very realistic cow-town street and prison wall and pill-boxes are being left standing.

FIGHTERS ARE GIVEN MONEY

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 19.—Joe Louis and Jack Sharkey, victor and victim of last night's heavyweight fight, were paid off today by Promoter Mike Jacobs. Louis received approximately $35,000 and Sharkey about $30,000.

Louis was represented at the pay-off by one of his managers, John Roxborough, but Sharkey was on hand in person, bearing a cut over his left eye and a swollen face as evidence of his three-round knockout at the hands of the Detroit negro.

Although Sharkey declined to say he is through with the ring he indicated as much, saying, "like a lot of other foolish fellows I thought I could get the title back after a long layoff."

"Louis' future title plans are uncertain in so far as his next opponent is concerned."

May Increase Copper Output

New York, Aug. 19.—Copper circles today speculated on the possibility that Kennecott Copper Company's plan for increasing production September 1 might lead other important domestic producers to take similar action.

Although principal operators have not disclosed producing levels, it is generally understood that output is still relatively low.

At the same time the amount of metal being taken from the mines is said to be considerably larger than the movement when the National Recovery Act was in effect.

Published reports placing the amount that Kennecott would lift output from 20 to 25 per cent were characterized by informed quarters as "pure guesses."

Meanwhile the entire trade appeared to have accepted the idea that no further advance in the price of the metal will be expected in the near future in view of Kennecott's plans.

Demand for the metal has slackened in the past few days both in the domestic and export markets. The price here remained firm at 9 1/2 cents.

Who's Who At Hotels

"Trail riding is a remarkable experience, but it makes you rather dissatisfied with sightseeing tours and buses and hotels," said Claude A. Jones of the European head office of the Canadian Pacific Railway in London at the Empress Hotel this morning.

Mr. Jones came to Victoria at the beginning of the week after spending some time with the trail riders and the trail hikers in the Rockies.

He will leave this afternoon for Quebec, whence he is scheduled to sail on the R.M.S. Empress of Britain on August 29.

Up in the Rockies Mr. Jones shared a topee with Travers Coleman, Canadian Pacific press representative at Vancouver. It rained and there was a hole in the roof. "He gave me the pick of sides, but I think he fixed it somehow. I got wet and he stayed dry."

Mr. Jones has been connected with the C.P.R. in London since he was sixteen years of age. He was in Victoria last in 1931.

The Empress Hotel staff thought they had a high army officer as guest this morning.

"We have a United States general in the house," they said.

"No, my husband is not a general at all," explained Mrs. M. S. F. Mitchell of Los Angeles. He was a captain in the army during the war. His associates in Los Angeles gave him the nickname of general.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have been in Victoria since last Friday. They are going up to Jasper Park at the end of the week, and Mr. Mitchell will go on a hunting trip in the Rockies to the north of Jasper.

They were here last year and liked the place so much that they came back for a holiday this year.

Judge and Mrs. H. E. Barne of Philadelphia are among distinguished United States visitors at the Empress Hotel.

Charles A. Sutherland of Dorset, England, was so impressed with what he saw here that he broke off his second tour around the world and plans to make his home here.

Mr. Sutherland is staying at the Glenisland Hotel. The things which attract him in Victoria are brightness, beauty and quiet.

After spending months in the tropics he finds it a wonderful relief to be back in a temperate climate and among English-speaking people.

"Business is quite so hectic as it was a little while ago, but we are still full up every night," said one of Victoria's hotel managers this morning.

"I think this will keep up right through September," he added.

California's noted at the Strathcona Hotel today included the following: Mr. and Mrs. S. Bennett, Los Angeles; Dr. Edith K. Weston and Margaret Weston, Pasadena, Cal.; Dr. W. D. McPhee and party, Santa Monica; R. B. Powell and family, Agnew; W. Beecher and family, Petaluma; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Duval, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lawson, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Los Angeles; Owen Edwards, Los Angeles.

Other United States visitors who were registered at the Strathcona Hotel today included: Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Harris and son, Eugene, Ore.; Mrs. N. H. Hallam and daughters, Portland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Givins and daughter, Centralia, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Parker, Sandpoint, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. R. Kramer, Portland; Miss J. C. FIND INCREASE IN REINDEER

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Canada's reindeer herd at the MacKenzie River delta on the shores of the Arctic Ocean has grown to 3,750. The annual count was started August 8 and the result was wirelessly today by Dr. J. A. Urquhart, department agent at Aklaik, N.W.T., to Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Natural Resources. The original herd which reached the delta two years ago numbered 2,370.

The herd was driven through corals for the roundup. The young animals were marked and certain mature steers and females selected for slaughter to supply food and clothing for natives of the Aklaik region.

The herd was reported in excellent condition.

Last Relief Loans Are Authorized

Relief loans of $1,615.93 to the city of Ladysmith and $3,500 to the district of Matseki were authorized today by the provincial government.

These are to finance relief expenditures up to March 31 as no loans are available for relief funds spent since that date.

INSPECTIONAL PARTY LEAVES

Government-sponsored Tour Members Enthusiastic About Island

Enthusiastic about what they had seen during a three-day visit to Victoria, members of the main section of the Government Inspectional Tour Party from England left Victoria for the mainland early this afternoon.

The timber and industrial group, which traveled to Victoria with the tourist section of the party, left yesterday for a three-day inspection of island logging camps and mills.

During their stay here the British visitors have seen almost all of Vancouver Island's beauty spots, were entertained by the provincial government at a banquet and were able to indulge in such sports as they chose.

A trip to the Fairbridge Farm School at Cowichan was one of the highlights of the tour; lunch at Brenta Lodge, eating salmon while looking at the waters in which the fish were swimming a few hours before, was another.

Not the least excited member of the tourist party was Miss Phyllis Robinson, who was traveling with her sister, Miss J. Robinson, and her aunt, Mrs. E. Edmeston. They came from Colwyn Bay, North Wales.

Miss Robinson is a talented artist in pastels. But this morning in the Empress Hotel she was carrying a camera.

Asked to explain this inconsistency, she said: "There are so many beautiful things here, and when you are traveling with a tour party you do not have time to sit down and get a box of pastels out, so I take pictures. But I want to come back here some time soon for a real stay, so that I can do some proper sketching. Victoria is a lovely place."

Admiral Will Retire Soon

London, Aug. 19.—The Admiralty announced yesterday Admiral Sir George Chetwode had been placed on the retired list at his own request, and that Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Forbes had consequently been promoted to the rank of admiral.

Sir George Chetwode participated in the Battle of Jutland and was mentioned in dispatches. From 1917 until the end of the war he was in command of destroyers in the Mediterranean. He was aide-de-camp to the late King George, 1927-28.

Sir Charles Forbes has been vice-admiral commanding the first battle squadron and second in command of the Mediterranean fleet since 1934. He served at the Battle of Jutland and was made a companion of the Distinguished Service Order for his part in the engagement. He was third sea lord at the Admiralty, 1932-34.

Other United States visitors who were registered at the Strathcona Hotel today included: Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Harris and son, Eugene, Ore.; Mrs. N. H. Hallam and daughters, Portland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Givins and daughter, Centralia, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Parker, Sandpoint, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. R. Kramer, Portland; Miss J. C. INDIANS ON SHOW BOAT

The spirit of old Chief Tsohalem and all the other doughty Indian warriors who wrote their names boldly in the early history of our island, will hover around the Show Boat tonight when a talented company of white and Indian artists, headed by Kay Barraclough, Pierre Timp and Frank Tupman present the first and last Indian night of the season at 8 o'clock.

Indian music, Indian war dances, war canoes, and a special waterborne scene based on the Indian Love Call, are all to be threaded like perfect pearls on a string of Indian legends.

Contracts For Willows Made

Repair Work to Automobile Building to Be Rushed For Completion By August 30

The British Columbia Agricultural Association executive today awarded contracts for repair work to the Automobile Building at the Willows exhibition grounds amounting to $3,464.

All contracts call for completion of work by August 30 in order to give spaceholders an opportunity to get their booths in shape by September 12, the date on which the fair will open.

Parfitt Bros. Ltd. were awarded the flooring job at a price of $1,400. Boyden Electric Company will install general lighting at a price of $815, and the Murphy Electric Company will look after booth fixtures at a cost of $255.

Parfitt Bros. Ltd. were awarded the contract for the roofing job at a price of $724.

The Automobile Building, when repaired, will provide adequate accommodation for exhibitors who have previously shown their wares in the Industrial Building. The Industrial Building will be left undisturbed and will be used as an exhibition attraction for those who wish to see the apparatus of Victoria's infant film industry.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE
TENDERS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN INTERMEDIATE AERODROME AT LANGLEY PRAIRIE, B.C.

SEALED tenders, enclosed in envelope marked "Tender for Development of Intermediate Aerodrome, Langley Prairie, B.C." and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of National Defence, Ottawa, Ontario, will be received until 12 o'clock noon (D.S.T.) of the 4th September, 1936.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein. These forms, together with plans and specifications, may be obtained on application to the District Inspector of Civil Aviation, 904 B.C. Mining Building, Vancouver, or to the Director of Contracts, Department of National Defence, Ottawa.

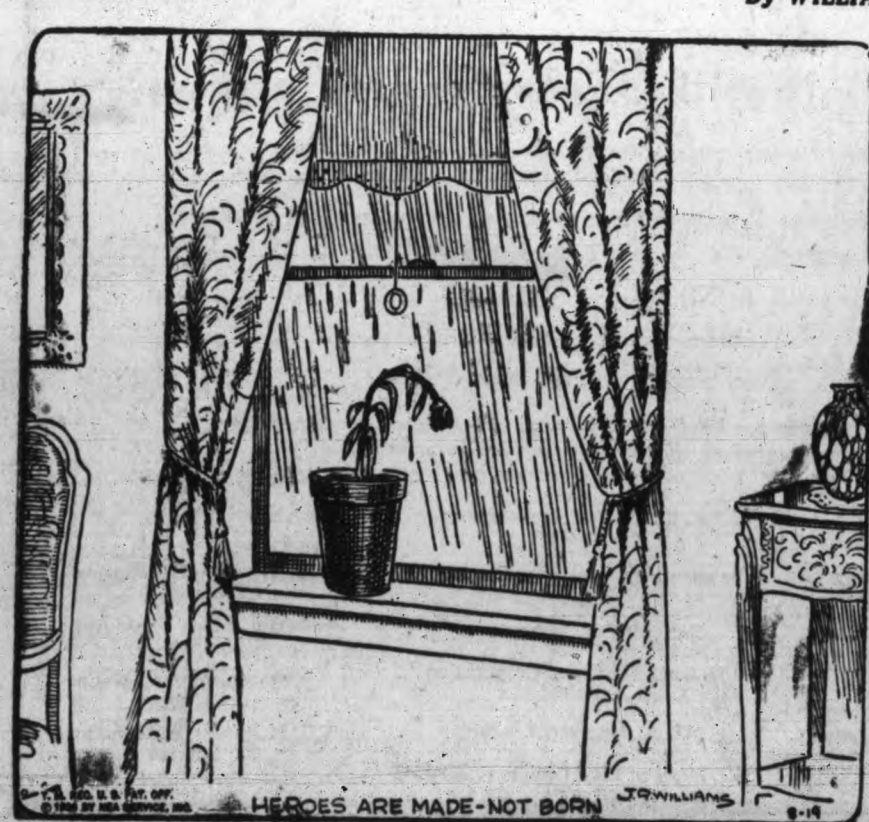

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of National Defence, for ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the tender.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be forfeited should he decline to enter into a contract for the work, or should he fail, after accepting the contract, to complete same in accordance with the Plans and Specifications.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

L. R. LAPLACHE, Deputy Minister.
Department of National Defence, Ottawa, August 11, 1936.

Martin H. Carmody Denies He Called Premier Aberhart a Communist

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 19.—Five directors were re-elected to the supreme board of the Knights of Columbus for a three-year term at today's first session of the fifty-fourth international convention.

They are: Leo F. Craig, Sioux Falls, S.D.; James H. Devaney, Cascade, Ia.; Edward F. Ryan, Spokane, Wash.; Michael J. Healy, Topeka, Kan.; and Judge James Danahoe, Chicago, Ill.

STATEMENT INCORRECT

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 19.—Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of the Knights of Columbus today issued a statement denying he ever referred to Premier Aberhart of Alberta as a Communist.

The Canadian Press in a report Monday, August 17, quoted Mr. Carmody as saying "this fellow Aberhart is a Communist."

Mr. Carmody said today: "I wish to have that statement corrected. I did not make that statement."

"When asked about Communism I said I refused to discuss individuals or particular cases. I never mentioned the name of Mr. Aberhart, and did not know the name of the prime minister of Alberta until the news item was called to my attention."

"I have no knowledge of the views or position of Mr. Aberhart on Communism or other political or social questions and expressed no opinion about his views or opinion and I desire to make that emphatically clear."

The Canadian Press regrets its error and any embarrassment it may have caused Mr. Carmody of Premier Aberhart, and is glad to make this correction.

Unwritten Law To Be Employed

Right of Man to Protect Home May Defeat Murder Charge

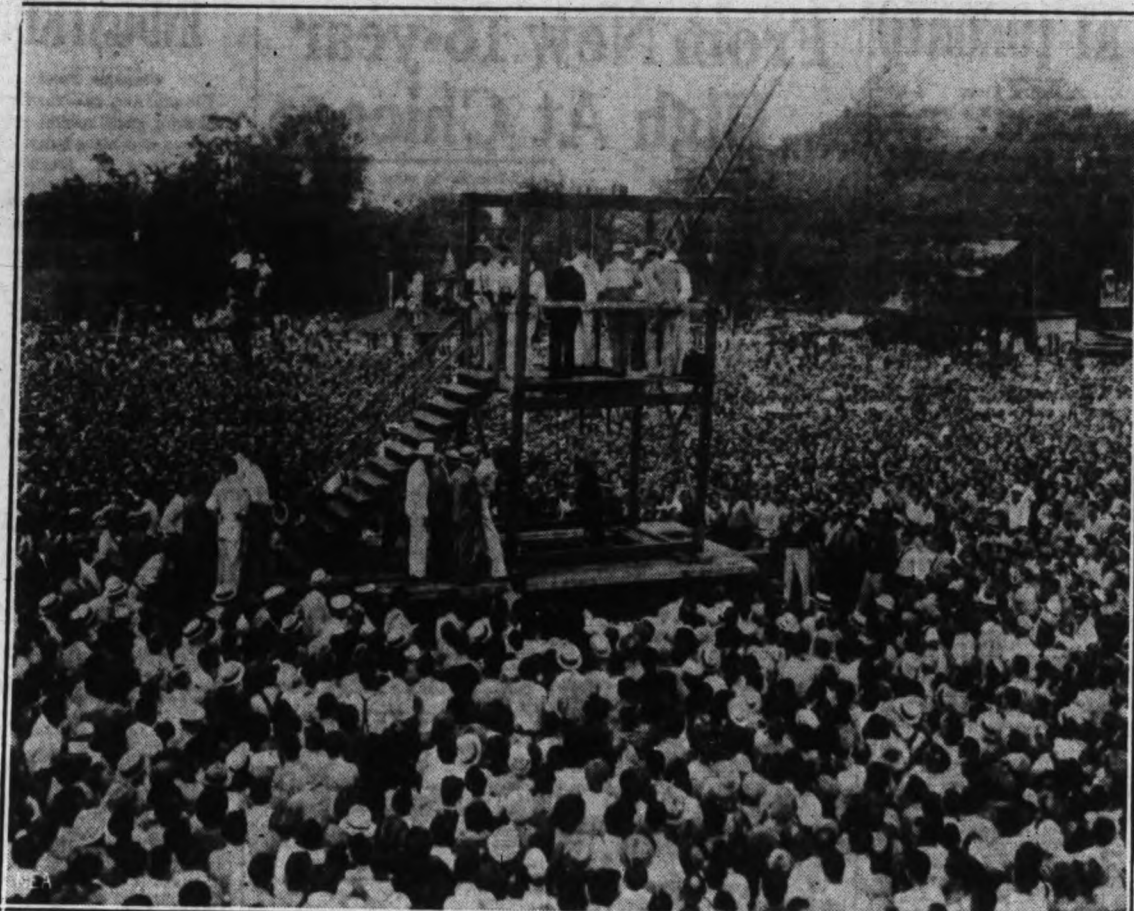

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—An "unwritten law"—the right of a man to protect his home at all costs—will be used in an effort to free James Henderson, thirty-two-year-old Alpine, Tex., cattleman, of a charge of first-degree murder, his chief counsel, John L. Fleming, said today.

Henderson appeared in court for trial of a charge that he emptied a six-shooter into the body of James Leroy Patton, fifty, beer parlor proprietor.

Mrs. Leona Henderson, the cattleman's twenty-four-year-old bride, over whom Henderson is alleged to have killed Patton, was to testify concerning events that led to the shooting.

"I lived up to what I thought was proper, because when I married this girl, I agreed to protect her," Henderson was quoted by Chief of Police

Kentucky Crowd Turn Hanging Into Holiday Affair

A crowd of 10,000 are shown gathered around a scaffold in a vacant lot in Owensboro, Ky., August 14, as Rainey Bethen, twenty-two-year-old colored youth, was hanged for the murder of Mrs. Elza Edwards, seventy-year-old white woman. The execution, which was made a gala occasion by the crowd, was delegated to a policeman, at the last minute, by Mrs. Florence Thompson, woman sheriff, who directed the hanging.

CONVENTION HERE ENDED

Delegates to a Vancouver Island district convention of the Ancient Order of Foresters yesterday elected J. B. Bell, Shawnigan, district chief ranger as sessions were brought to an end.

Other officers chosen included A. E. Holmwood, Victoria, district sub-chief ranger; Mrs. E. Fletcher, Victoria, district treasurer, and R. W. Nunn, Victoria, district secretary.

E. W. Bromford, Cobble Hill, and J. B. Underwood, Duncan, were chosen as trustees. Three Victoria men, R. A. Hickling, J. G. Bianco and C. W. Davis, were named auditors.

Court Alpha, Duncan, won the trophy given annually to the court showing the greatest increase in membership during the year.

The 1937 convention will be held in Duncan.

Visiting Foresters were guests of the entertainment committee at luncheon and supper in the Hudson's Bay Company dining-room. A concert and dance was held yesterday evening in the A.O.F. Hall, Cormorant Street. Refreshments were served at the dance.

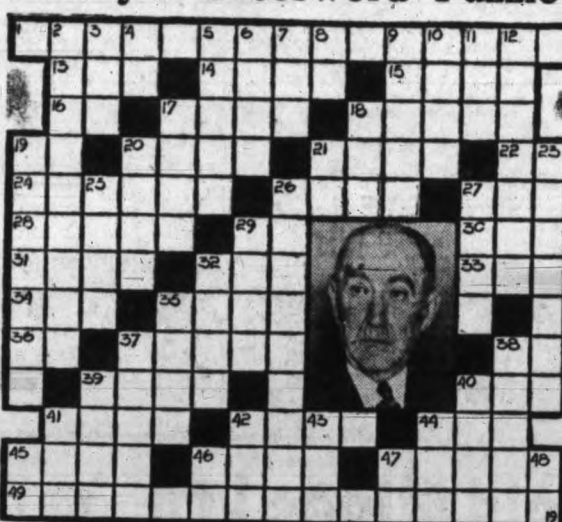

Included on the entertainment committee were A. E. Holmwood, Mrs. P. Wormleighton, Mrs. J. Jackson, Mrs. B. McDowell, F. W. Jenkins, P. Smith, W. Butts, Mrs. Smith, E. Matthews, Mrs. J. Fyner, C. G. Johnson and F. Oliver.

Jesse Owens On Way Back to U.S.

London, Aug. 19.—Out in front as usual, Jesse Owens is departing with his coach, Larry Snyder, for a speedy trip home to the United States, calculated to determine definitely his prospective professional course without delay.

Before making a quick dash for the boat train to Southampton, where they are boarding the Queen Mary, both Snyder and Owens insisted today they had not made decisions regarding numerous offers Owens has received.

Tarzan And The Fire Gods

Hobash discovered Niarohus creeping up behind Tarzan to hurt him into the abyss, and Hobash acted quickly. In a few leaps he was behind the priest. A quick thrust of his paw—and Niarohus tumbled into the chasm to join the fiery symbol of his bloodthirsty god!

Then a weird silence fell upon the Temple of the Fire Gods, for no male was left alive of the tribe of Banlites. Their beastly human vices had brought retribution at the hands of ruthless jungle beasts. As Tarzan quietly led the baboons away, Hobash spoke to him.

"We go. When Tarzan fights again, we fight—we kill!" The ap-man answered. "When danger comes to Hobash, call to me. Tarzan is a friend of the mighty tribe of Hobash, the king. The Jungle Lord placed his hands in back of his head as a salute, then hastened away."

The Alexandrians greeted him with tumultuous joy. "Hail to him who gave us victory and peace." But a vague alarm filled Tarzan's heart. He did not see Lady Beth, Jerry, Tommy or Arabela. What had happened to them in this ever-simplifying crater?

Children Should Be Taught Manners

MOTHERS Should Realize This

A MOTHER WRITES: "I have three small children. What shall I teach them? Well, after you have taught them to fear God, keep the commandments and wash behind their ears, the next most important thing is good manners, which are the 'open sesame' to all the doors in life through which they will want to pass. Good manners will carry one farther than looks or money or talent. They are a letter of credit that the world honors at sight. They form our first impression of every individual we meet and attract or repulse us. By a stranger's manners we make a snap judgment of his breeding, birth, background, social status, education, character, disposition and the kind of mother he or she has."

Of course, sometimes we are wrong. Manners are not invariably an index to the soul. There are rough diamonds who possess all of the major and minor virtues, but a hurrying world hasn't the time to polish them up, so they get passed by, and unless they have the most phenomenal brilliance, their worth is never recognized.

So begin in the cradle teaching your children good manners. Teach them how to eat, how to enter a room, how to speak, what to say and how to say it, how to pull out a lady's chair, how to help an old woman get in and out of a car. It is trouble to make Johnny use the right fork when he wants to pig it. You have to tell Sam a million times not to speak with his mouth full; not to wear his hat in the house; not to neglect a thousand little courteous observances. It takes time upon time and precept upon precept and being everlasting on the job to teach children good manners.

The famous psychologist, Dr. Link, estimates that it required five years' hard work to teach children good manners, but in the end great is the mother's reward. She has given her children the greatest charm they can possibly possess and she has laid the foundations of their fortunes. The sales appeal that enables a man to put himself over is nothing but good manners. The lack of good manners is what keeps many a man with ability from ever succeeding. I myself have personally known two men who lost coveted posts for which they were admirably fitted because they galled their soup.

Next, teach your children how to get along with other people. On our ability to smooth the fur of our fellow creatures the right way and make ourselves persona grata to them depends our success and our happiness in life. Popularity isn't the reward of vanity. It is what makes us or breaks us. People will do things for us because they like us that they wouldn't do for us because it was our right to have our lives. And, if they dislike us, they will pull us down every time we get a foothold on the ladder of success.

Most mothers are by way of thinking that if a child has a cantankerous disposition there is nothing that can be done about it. It is just too bad that Johnny always quarrels with the other children and every game he is in breaks up in a row. And Mother sighs instead of getting busy and making Johnny play fair and give and take, and not assume the right to run the whole show.

I have known any number of competent men and women who could never hold a good job because they could not get along with the other employees. I have known many professional people whose careers were wrecked because they were always saying or doing something to offend their best clients. And we all know that at the bottom of every unhappy marriage is the wife or husband who has never learned the art of getting along with people.

Then teach your children how to take it. Life isn't easy for any of us. Every job is hard and discouraging, but those who have the courage to stand up and fight and who come up smiling after every rebuff of fortune always win out in the end. It is the whiners and the complainers and those who throw up their hands and quit when the sledding gets difficult who are failures.

Teach them to finish what they start. Make the baby finish its bottle. Make the toddler complete his block house. Teach your children a pride in doing good work and never laying down on their jobs. You can't down the man and woman who have patience and grit enough to stick to the thing they have undertaken. The failures are those who fit from one thing to another and do nothing well.

Teach your children these things and you will have fitted them for life.

Uncle Wiggily and the Accident

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When the grasshopper race started, the one Uncle Wiggily arranged between the two brothers, Skippy and Scappy, the crowd on the shore of the Duck Pond Ocean looked up in the air to watch the jumping.

Skippy and Scappy started at the same time. They were to jump as far as they could, and that would end the matter.

"They certainly are sailing high," barked Uncle Wiggily, the goat, who had betted on Skippy to get up the race.

"I never saw better jumping," spoke Mr. Longears. "I can't see them, can you, Butler?"

"No. They sailed right up over my head," barked Jackie Bow Wow. "Skippy was in the lead."

"No, Scappy was," he was ahead," barked Peetie, who was Jackie's brother. "Scappy was away ahead."

"Oh, he was not!" said Sammie Little-tail.

DIDN'T LIKE DISPUTE

"Now don't start the same kind of disputing talk that Skippy and Scappy do between themselves," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I arranged this race to end the talk. Let's keep it up, please."

"I won't, promise!" Jackie and then he added, "Skippy was ahead."

"Oh, he was not," barked Jackie, but then, just when his brother was going to start the talk over, Baby Bunty shouted: "There they are—I see them!"

The pointed a paw at two little specks in the air like planes a long way off.

"Those specks can't be Skippy and Scappy so far away," said Uncle Wiggily. "They never could have jumped that far."

"Let me take a look with my spy glass," said the Great Dog, who rented rowing boats on the Duck Pond Ocean. And when he had taken a look he roared out: "Avast and belay! That's the grasshopper boys all right. My! What a jump!"

"They must be going to jump all the way around the world!" barked Uncle Butler.

"Come on! Let's follow them to see who wins!" barked Jackie.

"No. Don't do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "You could never follow Skippy and Scappy around the world. They never could fly around the world. What they are going to do, very likely, is to fly around the Duck Pond. It's like a horse-racing track. Stay here until they come around again and then we'll see the finish of the race and know who won."

WAIT FOR RACERS

They all thought that was a good plan, so they settled down to wait for the grasshopper boys to come back.

"They're gone a long time," said Baby Bunty.

"I'll take another look with my spy glass," said the Sea Dog.

And when he had looked he loudly barked: "There's been an accident! The wind has blown both Skippy and Scappy into the pond. They're having a swimming race."

"They can't swim! They'd drown!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Get out your boat," said the Sea Dog. "The Sea Dog and Uncle Wiggily got into the boat and quickly rowed to where Skippy and Scappy were struggling in the water. The grasshopper boys were pulled out and dried in the sun. And that ended the race. To this day nobody knows who is the best jumper. But it doesn't matter. And if the grasshopper boys level in the pond to speak to the molasses jug, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's corn dance."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1936

According to astrology this is an important day in planetary conjunction. It is a time to follow routine work and to complete whatever has been neglected.

Farmers and workers of many classes are subject to a configuration that forecasts discontent. The epidemic of unrest will spread rapidly in the coming fortnight, it is forecast.

Youth is under a promising way that seems to promise service to the nation in both civil and military organizations. Leaders now will pass rapidly from the scenes of their life.

As business promises to be greatly stimulated through the autumn months this day should be fortunate for plans and decisions that relate to constructive measures.

Women today are likely to be prominent in politics they are to be prominent and helpful, but they may clash with men who are party leaders.

This is an auspicious wedding day. Marriages on this date should bring to women the responsibilities that they most covet, including the establishment of artistic homes.

Whatever builds confidence and trust should benefit under this configuration. The courage and even foolhardy daring of the young is likely to be rewarded in coming months.

While there may be a certain response to the excitement of military and naval movements among young people, a growing sentiment against war will be apparent before the end of the year.

Persons who are viriditate it is the augury of a trying year, but the stars smile upon financial affairs. They should be cautious in speech.

Children born on this day probably will be realistic who find success in practical work. Subjects of this sign usually are exceedingly intelligent.

Valentine Mott, surgeon, was born on this day, 1788. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Samuel L. Mitchell, scientist, 1764.

It is thought that efforts to reduce the air resistance to planes eventually will result in placing the motors completely within the wings.

PACIFIC FLIGHT BEING PLANNED

Two Japanese Youths Hope to Span Pacific From Seattle to Tokyo

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—Planning a one-stop flight from Seattle to Tokyo, two American-born Japanese youths yesterday bought the four-year-old express plane formerly owned by Laura Ingalls, aviatrix, from a Glendale aircraft brokerage firm.

The youths are Benny Chojin, twenty-four, and John Takemoto, twenty-five, both of Alameda, Calif. They said they expect to take off for Seattle early next year, after they had replaced the ship's present engine with a 550-horsepower super-charged motor, installed more fuel tanks and equipped the plane with a two-way radio and automatic compasses. Then they will await only the good weather season.

On their 4,800-mile route, they plan to stop only at Nome, Alaska, 1,800 miles from Seattle.

"We want to disprove the general belief that Japanese are poor aviators," said Takemoto, who will accompany his 105-pound chum as co-pilot and navigator.

Representations Made to Washington Concerning Seizure of Ss. Miserinko and Jail Sentences of Six Men

Canadian Press

Washington, Aug. 19.—Reviving diplomatic tactics rare since prohibition days, the British Government has made representations to the United States against continued seizure of an alleged rum runner flying the British flag.

The representations, concerning seizure of the British registered steamship Miserinko, carrying a crew of six men understood to be Canadians, last March 14. The British Government contends the vessel was seized off the New England coast beyond the one-hour's sailing time limit set in the British-American anti-smuggling agreement.

United States Treasury Department officials said their record showed the Miserinko was registered as a British ship out of the Barbados Islands and was owned by a Canadian corporation at Halifax. The corporation, in turn, officials said, was owned by United States citizens.

The Treasury said six members of the crew had been sentenced to jail terms ranging up to ten months. The alleged principals in the corporation, Ralph Birtles and George Garrett, United States citizens, pleaded guilty, officials said, and were given heavy fines with suspended jail sentences.

State Department officials said they were giving the British note "courteous consideration" and were preparing an answer based on facts made available by the Treasury Department's customs bureau, coastguard, and New Hampshire coast records.

During the "dry" era the United States was involved in a number of international episodes revolving around the seizure of foreign vessels attempting to smuggle liquor inside the three-mile limit.

With the seizures of the British ships G.B.G. and Pronto, and the Norwegian tramp steamer Reiden, early this year, however, Secretary Morgenthau announced the coast-guard and customs service had succeeded in plugging the last remaining "holes" through which alcohol was evading duties and taxes.

Alcohol tax unit officials said the Miserinko was apprehended off the coast of New Hampshire when the small rum runner attempted to land its cargo of 1,200 cases of alcohol. The 1,200 cases comprised 7,200 gallons, 190 proof, which would have been subject to a duty of $9.50 per gallon and an internal revenue tax of $3.80 a gallon, or a total of about $95,000.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

The President McKinley Brings Many Tourists From the Orient—Janet Barton and Henry Landes' Parties Are Aboard—Manila Resident Plans Flights Across Atlantic and Pacific—Gay Homeward Voyage, With Festive Events and Fine Weather Experienced—Passengers Come Ashore With Souvenirs and Happy Memories.

Laden with lovely wares of the Orient, with pictures taken of themselves on shipboard, in rich shawls in Shanghai and in other odd conveyances of the Orient, and standing in front of famous buildings and with memories that will last them a lifetime, over 350 tourists from many parts of North America arrived in Victoria this morning aboard the American Mail liner President McKinley, Capt. Clyde F. Brant, U.S.N.R.

The list was one of the largest to arrive in Victoria this season aboard a ship of this fleet. The weather coming across the North Pacific was fine and as the result the voyage was a gala one. Every state-room was filled and both tourist and first-class dining-rooms had every seat occupied. There were dances and bridge tournaments, masquerades and, of course, the captain's dinner. It was with a feeling of sadness, tinged with excitement at being home again, that the passengers saw the shoreline of North America loom through the mist early this morning.

"I loved it all, but I think Hongkong appealed to me more than any other place we saw," said Mrs. Janet Barton of Victoria, who returned on the President McKinley with the twelve travelers she conducted on a tour through the Orient.

"Hongkong harbor is so beautiful," she said, "Japan, of course, was lovely, but I preferred Hongkong."

Mrs. Barton, who was completing her first visit across the Pacific, hopes to take another party over next year. So pleased were the members of her party that they held a dinner on shipboard in her honor the other evening and made her a presentation.

Four Victorians made the Barton tour. They were Miss Iris Carnot of 1120 Blanshard Street, Miss Enid McKee of 1041 Fairfield Road, H. Seibenbaum of 1300 Government Street and Mrs. Lucy Ward of 3142 High View Road.

"Every year we get the fever to see the Orient, so I suppose we'll go over again next year," said Mrs. Henry Landes, former Mayor of Seattle who, with Dean Landes of the faculty of the University of Washington, accompanied the President McKinley, with the members of their Dragonland Tour of the Orient. The dean and his wife have been out to the Orient four times in recent years. They have many friends in the Orient cities now and each spring they seem forced to make plans for another trip.

The dean was suffering from a slight attack of bronchitis when the McKinley arrived here and did not leave his cabin.

Coming ashore at Victoria, in addition to the Victorians, were Bay, George Marchand of The Pas, Man., Miss Anna Moene of Kentland, Indiana, and Madame M. N. Valiabelle of Hanoi, French Indo China, who will cross Canada en route to New York, from where she will sail September 12 by the French flagship Normandie for Paris. She will return to the winter in France and will return to the Orient via the Red Sea.

John D. McDord, owner of the Blue-bay Coconut Company of Manila, has been across the Pacific almost as many times as a deep-sea captain. He makes two and three trips a year and was on the President McKinley this morning.

He has an interesting trip in store for him now. He is going to Europe by way of machinery and if it can be arranged he hopes to make the return passage across the Atlantic on the German dirigible Hindenburg. He will fly across the United States to San Francisco and there take passage aboard one of the big clipper ships for Manila, arriving there five days after leaving California.

He expects he will have been absent from Manila only about two months.

Some of the other passengers on the President McKinley were Miss Eileen Austin, Mrs. J. W. Ballantine and three daughters from Peiping; P. W. Meyer, second secretary at the American Embassy in Peiping, with Mrs. Meyer; Wen-Han Kiang, secretary of the national committee of the Y.M.C.A. in China; William F. Mitchell of Shanghai, who will study in California; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pace, Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Smucker and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Goodrich.

SHIP FEARED LOST IS SAFE

Owner Unaware Planes and Cutters Searching Off Nova Scotia

Canadian Press
Bridgewater, N.S., Aug. 19.—Unaware that air force planes and police cutters had been searching for him for the last two days, youthful Jack Parker, owner of the three-masted schooner St. Clair, Theriault tied up his craft here today and telephoned his family at Sydney, N.S.

Unreported for seventeen days on a short trip from Port Hawkesbury to Bridgewater, the delay of the thirty-year-old wooden sailing vessel caused anxiety and his family asked him to call here today and telephoned his father, Dr. J. Frimrose Parker, died Saturday and they wanted to get word to him.

Strong head winds and gales with periods of dead calm had prolonged the voyage which ordinarily takes but a few days, Parker said.

Newsy Briefs of Land Sea and Air

Seattle, Aug. 19.—Starting in September, twenty-four refrigerated ships will maintain a sailing schedule between Seattle and Europe during the fruit harvest season.

WANT MONSTER KILLED

Port-au-Port, Nfld., Aug. 19.—Fishermen, twenty-four refrigerated ships will maintain a sailing schedule between Seattle and Europe during the fruit harvest season.

The monster, reportedly 200 feet long, but otherwise vaguely described, was said to be a sea serpent.

IN PLANE CRASH

Nakina, Ont., Aug. 19.—Bill Tweed, Ontario air service pilot missing five days in the northern Ontario bush, was unconscious from Wednesday night, when he crashed, until Saturday, when he was revived by rain, it was learned yesterday from the pilot in hospital with a broken left leg and arm.

When found Monday Tweed could not speak above a whisper.

NEW TIE-UP

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Mutual representation in the Orient was effected by the Dollar Steamship Lines and Pan-American Airways, R. Stanley Dollar, steamship company president has announced.

He said constant radio communication will be maintained between the clipper planes and steamships to provide weather information and other services.

GOING TO ORIENT

Montreal, Aug. 19.—A trade mission to the Far East, sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce with the support of the Department of Trade and Commerce and co-operation of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, will leave Victoria and Vancouver for China January 19, 1937. It was learned here today. The party will sail on the Ss. Empress of Japan.

The party of good-will will enjoy, seeking to expand Canada's trade relations with the Orient, will visit principal cities of China and Japan, returning to Victoria and Vancouver April 7, 1937.

SHIPS ARE SAFE

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—Three fishing boats lashed by a tropical gale off the coast of Lower California yesterday were reported out of danger today.

Wireless messages said the east-bound Panama-Pacific liner California had arrived on the scene to rescue the twelve-man crew of the 100-foot clipper Enterprise, driven on rocky Point Tocco, about 675 miles south of San Pedro.

Two other tuna clippers, the Magellan and the Panama, were reported safe inside Magdalena Bay.

REACH NEW YORK

Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y., Aug. 19.—Dick Merrill, veteran air mail pilot, and Elmyr Richman, singing star, set a British freighter, A. N. Skiff, agent, yesterday after a non-stop flight from Kansas City.

The ship was purchased by Richard for a projected round-trip speed flight across the Atlantic. Friends said they expected Richman and Merrill to make their flight at the end of this week.

Bus Excursions Being Planned

A varied choice of low-fare excursions will be offered this week-end by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

On Saturday a special trip to Vancouver will be featured. Five hours will be allowed in Vancouver. Qualicum Beach will be featured as an excursion point on Sunday. Also to be run on Sunday are special excursions to Maple Bay, Shawnigan Lake, Goldstream Park, Sooke Harbor and Thetis Lake, in
